MOB IS KEPT FROM BLACKS BY BAYONETS

Triple Lynching Was Only Prevented at Lexington, Ky., by Quick Work.

THREE NEGROES IN JAIL FOR KILLING "WHITE DOGS"

Feeling Over the Murderous Work of the Negroes so Bitter, that Mob Formed to Storm the Jail and Mete Out Summary Punishment.

Lexington, Ky., November 21.—At 10:45 o'clock tonight the prospect of a mob which had formed on the outskirts of the city attacking the jail in which Garfield Smith, Ed Taylor and John Taylor are confined was so pronounced that County Judge Bullock advised that the militia be called out. Constables and deputy sheriffs to the number of fifty had already been put on guard at the jail, and all the day police have been called from their beds to reinforce the night force. The authorities decline to give out the information that has come to them of the mob, but they are in touch with the movement and regard the situation as grave.

Sunday night the negroes who are in jail started out on an expedition to "kill white dogs." Entering Luigart's saloon, they opened fire on a company of white men, who were stragers to them. Will Moore was shot dead as he was crouching behind a barrel. Others found cover and escaped, though bullet holes marked their places of refuge. Last night a mob of three hundred formed and advanced on the jail after midnight, but were persuade to disperse when informed that the police were aware of their plans.

At 11 o'clock tonight Colonel Roger Williams, of the Second regiment, called company C into services. Runners are being sent for the soldiers in all parts of the city. County Judge Bullock is at the jail with the chiefs of police and detectives, and sheriffs directing precautionary means. The police learned that the mob was forming in three sections, one in Gratz park, another in Brucetown and the third outside the city on the Bryant station pike. At 11 o'clock a platoon of police advanced on a crowd of three hundred at Gratz park. The men offered no resistance, but dispersed in all directions. Several who had guns exposed were captured and locked up. The police dispersed groups of men whenever they collected in the down town district.

While a minstrel performance was in progress at the opera house a halt was called by the management, and it was announced that Colonel Williams asked all militiamen in the audience to meet him in the lobby. This caused excitement and by 11 o'clock hundreds of people were flocking to the jail. Police stretched ropes across the streets bounding the jail and reinforced this with a living chain of blue coats.

They received information that two brothers of the widow who, with ten children of Moore, is left unprovided for, were at the head of a mounted mob riding from Bourbon county. The report that the widow had said she wanted the men lynched incited many to join the mob. The main rendezvous is in the county on the Bryant station pike. Information that it was planned to burn the square on which the prisoners lived reached the police, but they could not spare men from the jail to guard the streets.

Colonel Williams could not get in communication with the governor, but called out the local company on his own responsibility.

SKELETONS TO GRIN AT "NAN" PATTERSON

Actress Accused of Murder Will Be Forced To Face Gruesome Exhibits.

SCATHING GIVEN WOMAN BY STATE'S ATTORNEY

He Paints Nan Patterson as One of the Worst of Her Sex, and Warns the Jury that Revolting Evidence Will Be Introduced.

New York, November 21.—The trial of Nan Patterson for the murder of Bookmaker Caesar Young was fairly begun before Justice David in the supreme court today, and when adjournment was taken at 4 o'clock this afternoon Assistant District Attorney Rand had concluded his outline of the state's case and had examined several of the witnesses for the prosecution.

The stories that there would be further delays in the trial were early disposed of by the announcement from the court that Foreman Hendricks, of the jury, who had asked to be relieved, would not be excused.

There was not an unusually large crowd in the court this morning, but when the doors were opened for the afternoon session there was a rush to gain admittance which swept the squad of court officers off their feet.

Two Skeletons To Be Used.

The dull routine which always marks the preliminary stage of a trial in a capital case has been interspersed with several incidents bordering on the sensational and it was expected that big crowds of spectators would clamor for admittance to the court room when the trial was fairly under way.

When the trial was resumed today Justice Davis declined to excuse Foreman Hendricks, and Assistant District Attorney Rand at once began to outline the case of the prosecution.

During the trial two skeletons, one of a man and another of a woman, will be brought into the court room to be used in demonstrating the theories of the attorneys in the case. One of the skeletons will be used by the prosecution and the other by the defense. There will be long periods during which evidence will be introduced to show the probable course of a bullet at close range. Lawyer Daniel O'Reilly, one of the attorneys for the defense, announced today that Miss Patterson's former husband, Louis Martin, from whom she was divorced several years ago, would appear during the trial. Martin is a hotel clerk and resides at Washington.

"Nan" Patterson Arraigned.

Mr. Rand warned the jurors that in considering the evidence submitted in this trial they must not allow themselves to be influenced one way or the other by the fact that the defendant is a woman. The laws were for men and womn alike. He said the only question to be determined was whether the defendant was guilty of murder as charged. It was admitted, he said, that either Young killed himself or was killed by the prisoner at the bar. The presecution was prepared to show not only that Miss Patterson fired the fatal shot, but that the act was one of deliberation and premeditation. They would show that the crime was planned for at least thirteen hours and that it was conceived a day before the tragedy when the pistol was bought. All this would be proven by circumstantial evidence and the chain of circumstances as presented by the prosecution would be so strong that even if the defense should put a thousand men on the stand and each one of the thousand said he saw the man fire the shot the jury would not believe one of them. Continuing Mr. Rand said:

"In this case we will take you to the scene and introduce you to persons who visit the race track, all night 'tenderloin' cafes and patronize the roving cabman. 'Caesar' Young came to this country fourteen years ago from England and from that time he was always on the go from race track to race track, always making money. He possessed traits that a man ought not to be proud of, but he had other traits that will recommend him to you. He was a fair gambler, who gave honest odds and never welched. He was a man of prepossessing appearance, with a frank face and pleasing eye.

Young Susceptible To Women.

"He was singularly susceptible to the charms of women and allowed women to work on his affections. After meeting the woman who then called herself Nan Randolph, no matter where races were run and books were made, Young and Nan were to be found there together.

"In March, 1904, in his sane sense, at his wife's pleading, Young decided to shake Nan Patterson. She was given $800 to leave him. I am compelled to show the relation that existed between Young and this woman. This evidence will not be milk for babies, therefore let us be strong enough to face the truth, though we would far rather turn aside."

He detailed the movements of Miss Paterson and Young, declaring that notwithstanding the money which was given her as an inducement to leave, Nan said she had a better claim on Young than any other woman and refused to give him up.

Mr. Rand described Young's movements on June 3, which he spent with his wife.

He declared that on June 3 J. Morgan Smith, the prisoner's brother in law, accompanied by a woman, purchased a revolver at Hiram Stearn's pawn shop. "The same night," he said, "Nan and Young met and went to Flannery's saloon, where they remained until 3 o'clock the next morning. During the night there were a series of scenes between Young and his mistress. When he told her that he was going away she said that

FIFTEEN MEN WERE GULPED BY OLD OCEAN

Spanish Bark Tafalla Went Down During Recent Storm with All Hands.

BRITISH STEAMER NEAR SINKING CRAFT FOR HOURS

On the Second Night the Spanish Vessel Disappeared—The British Steamer's Officers Are Certain the Steamer Went Down.

Philadelphia, November 21.—The British steamer Aros Castle, Captain Day, fifty-seven days out from Java, with a cargo of sugar, arrived at this port today and reported the probable foundering on November 15 of the Spanish bark Tafalla, with her crew of fifteen men, during the recent southern storm. The steamer stood by the sinking bark for two days, and on the second night the Spanish vessel disappeared. The condition of the Tafalla when the crew of the Aros Castle last saw the vessel was such as to lead them to believe that the bark went down during the night.

Captain Day reported that shortly before daybreak on Sunday, November 13, during a terrific gale, rockets were sighted about 220 miles east of the Bermudas. The rockets were answered by flare light from the Aros Castle, and the steamer's course was changed in the direction of the rockets. The sea was running so high that the steamer could not safely go near the distressed vessel, and she lay to, waiting for daylight. In the meantime the flarelights were kept burning to encourage the crew on the unknown vessel. After daybreak it was learned that the distressed vessel was the Tafalla, 995 tons, Captain S. Roig, with a cargo of pitch pine from Brunswick, Ga., for Valencia. The storm was so great that no small boat could be sent to the assistance of the Tafalla and Captain Roig hoisted the following signal:

"Leaking 6 inches an hour. Main pump broken and smaller pump logged. Men worn out."

Captain Day signalled he would lay by until the storm abated. Toward noon, he signalled the captain of the British steamer to shoot a line to the bark, which he succeeded in doing after steaming his vessel dangerously near the bark. A hawser was fastened to the bark and slow progress was made in the turbulent sea. Late in the afternoon the hawser snapped and the Spanish vessel again drifted helplessly with water gaining in the hold.

Night came and Captain Day decided to stand by until morning.

During the night the storm did not abate, and Captain Roig continued to send up rockets, and Captain Day to burn flare-lights, so that they would not become separated.

With daylight on Monday it was seen that the bark was lower in the water, but the British crew could do nothing until the sea became calmer, because the only hawser on the vessel was the one that had broken. Monday night the vessels were still together, and the rockets and flare lights were kept going. After 4 a. m. Tuesday the crew of the Aros Castle saw no more rockets, and all was darkness. When daylight came not a sign of the Spanish bark could be seen on the ocean, and it is the belief of the British crew that the vessel was ripped open by the tremendous waves and went down with all hands on board. The fury of the storm was so great, Captain Day reports that no small boat could have safely ridden the waves. The Aros Castle for half a day steamed in all directions in the hope of finding some trace of the vessel, but saw nothing.

The Tafalla, which formerly carried the name of Ammina, was built in 1877.

JAPANESE OFFICER BATHING UNDER FIRE.

THE Japanese officer, in spite of shot and shell, will have his hot bath in the evening. This sketch was made in a village outside Port Arthur. The earthenware jar, in which the officer is taking his bath, is found in all Manchurian houses and generally holds the drinking water for the family. In the small bowl on the stump of a tree the officer washes himself with soap and sluices the suds off with cold water before getting into the jar, for it has to serve for several of his comrades.

GOMPERS AND MITCHELL BRANDED AS TRAITORS TO CAUSE OF LABOR

Stormy Session of the Federation of Labor at San Francisco.

SOCIALIST RESOLUTION CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

Flood Gates of Bitterness and Vituperation Opened—Gompers and Mitchell Attacked for Dining With President of Harvard.

San Francisco, November 21.—Today's session of the American Federation of Labor was the most exciting held. During the heated debate which followed the unexpected injection of the question of socialism before the delegates, Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell were charged with being traitors to the cause of labor. These charges and the bitter socialistic debate which followed were caused by the introduction of the following resolution by Delegate Victor Berger, of Milwaukee.

"Whereas, the unprecedented concentration of wealth in the United States and the rapid development of the trusts in almost every branch of industry make it obvious that capitalism will soon reach its culmination point and will have to make room for another phase of civilization; and,

"Whereas, it is evident that this nation is destined to take the lead in this grand struggle for better conditions and higher culture; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we hereby recommend to all organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor to have their members study the economic conditions; to have lectures upon these subjects in their lodge room, homes and in meetings set apart for this purpose, and to do everything in their power for the enlightenment and intellectual advancement of the poletarist."

Floodgates Are Opened.

The resolutions committee reported to the convention that it recommended the adoption of the clause following the first "whereas." A socialist delegate arose and asked why the particular section should be expurgated. This opened the flood gates of oratory and vituperation, and the battle was not over until an hour and fifteen minutes after the regular time for adjournment. By an overwhelming vote the delegates then passed the resolution as recommended by the committee, and expressed their confidence in John Mitchell and Samuel Gompers.

Max Hayes, who championed the socialistic doctrine, in a speech so aroused the galleries that they cheered him for several minutes. This caused President Gompers to threaten to clear the hall of all visitors if demonstrations of the kind were repeated. The debate became warmer, and some of the best speeches of the session were made during its course. Criminations and recriminations flew thick and fast. Feeling ran so high that John Mitchell rose in the convention and stated that unless Delegate Victor Berger, of Milwaukee, was able to prove his statement, that he (Mitchell) had been a traitor to the workingman, he must stand before the eyes of all present a convicted liar.

That Eliot Dinner.

Then a motion was made to suspend the rules and allow President Gompers and John Mitchell an opportunity to defend themselves. The trouble arose over a printed slip distributed to some delegates, which charged Mr. Gompers and Mr. Mitchell with dining with President Eliot, of Harvard. The article in question said the place at which the meal was eaten was an unfair house, and that President Eliot was the man who called the "scab" a hero. It bore the heading, "Are they traitors?"

The reply of President Gompers was most bitter and impassioned, and the feeling among the delegates was tense.

He admitted the attendance upon the dinner, but denied every inference drawn therefrom, and declared that as long as he was connected with the labor movement he would fight against politics being mixed with unionism.

Mr. Mitchell made a quiet address, but was accorded the closest attention He was loudly applauded when he said that he defied any man to point to any act of his which might be interpreted as against the interests of the workingman.

Eight Hours for Typos.

An action of far reaching importance was that taken on the report of a special committee on the demand by the Typographical Union for an eight-hour day. The convention voted unanimously to indorse the demand and pledged itself to assist the movement financially by levying an assessment on each of the members if such a course should become necessary. The Typographical Union has set January, 1906, as the time when the eight-hour day will be demanded by their organization.

Niagara, N. Y., and Forth Worth, Tex., invited the delegates to hold their next annual session in the respective cities.

The federation went on record as favoring the exclusion of the Chinese and also passed resolutions denouncing Governor Peabody, of Colorado, for his hostility to organized labor.

FINGER OF MURDERED MAN POINTED AT THE SUSPECTS

CHICAGO, November 21.—Ordeal, by murdered corpse, applied today by the police to wrench a confession to the murder of Natoli Zelefani, whose body was found in Lake Michigan a fortnight ago, failed to secure the desired result, but it is thought that a confession may follow later. The procedure was as follows:

The body of Zelefani, which had been buried in Mount Carmel cemetery, was exhumed, carried to a vault and placed in a sitting posture, the right arm was propped up in such a manner that the index finger pointed directly at the face of any person entering the vault. The attitude of the body was made as nearly as possible like that assumed by a person in saying, "You are the man who killed me."

Police Inspector Shippy then took to the vault Peter Miro, Frank Bell and Joyce Toppin, a colored porter of a saloon in which Zelefani passed considerable time on the day of his death. One by one he caused them to confront the accusing finger of the dead man, and watch for a sign of nervous collapse. Benzio and Bell went through the ordeal without exhibiting a trace of emotion. The colored porter was badly frightened, but he did not reveal anything in the shape of a clew. Miro refused to enter the vault, and the officers were compelled to drag him before the corpse, and compel him to gaze upon it. He didn't speak, however, and has not said anything since being returned to the police station that would indicate that he knows anything about the murder.

HUNDREDS ALMOST FOUGHT AT NEW YORK OPERA HOUSE

NEW YORK, November 21.—Society hailed the opening of the season of grand opera under the management of Heinrich Conried at the Metropolitan opera house tonight with an outpouring of enthusiasm almost unparalleled. Never in the memory of the oldest of operagoers was such a rush for admission witnessed. During the early hours of the evening the lobby of the opera house was besieged with hundreds who almost fought to gain access to the box office. Before the overture was ended there was not a ticket to be had and it was only with the utmost difficulty that the fact could be impressed on the crowd, which was so dense as for a while to block the entrance to the house. Tickets by the speculators reached fabulous prices, $75 and $80 being in many instances paid for two stalls, while $10 represented the smalest sum that could secure admission to the topmost gallery.

This remarkable demonstration was in great measure due to the magic of the names of Madame Emma Eames, this being her reappearance after an absence of one season, and of Mr. Caruso, who returns to repeat his triumph of last year.

The great throng that filled every seat and every inch of standing room fairly throbbed with the enthusiasm that hailed the appearance of Madame Eames as Aida and Mr. Caruso as Radames.

FIRST WOMAN LAWYER ADMITTED IN ALABAMA

MONTGOMERY, Ala., November 21.—(Special.)—Miss O. L. Womack, of Gadsden, was admitted to practice law by the supreme court today, the first woman licensed in the history of the state.

Miss Womack is reported to be skilled in her profession, and her advent in the ranks of the attorneys of Alabama is expected to cause something of a sensation.

It is said that the new addition to the bar prosecuted her studies with rare diligence, and that she passed a fine examination.

Where she will locate for the practice of her profession has not yet been announced, nor is it known whether she will have a partner in the work.

THREE JOHNSON SISTERS WED 3 NELSON BROTHERS

CHIPPEWA FALLS, WIS., November 21.—Rev. E. M. Nelson, Andrew Nelson and Charles Nelson and Jessie Johnson, Amanda Johnson and Clara Johnson, three brothers and three sisters, were married at the same time today. After the triple ceremony, Rev. C. J. Erdman, who officiated, asked Rev. Nelson, one of the newly-married brothers, to marry him to one of the guests. All the bridegrooms and all the brides will go in a party to the world's fair for a honeymoon trip.

ANGERED BY LATE DINNER, THIS MAN HANGED HIMSELF

NEW YORK, November 21.—Dissatisfied with his wife's housekeeping and finally throwing himself into a towering rage because dinner was not ready the moment he arrived home, John P. Ziegler, a furrier, hanged himself at his home in the Bronx.

Mrs. Ziegler told the coroner that, although she tried hard to conduct the household to please her husband, he was never satisfied. She said he attempted to poison himself two months ago and later tried the kill both by putting poison in the tea.

PORT ARTHUR ON THE VERGE OF SURRENDER

Flag of the Mikado Will Soon Be Waving Over the Russian Stronghold.

SURRENDER VERY NEAR SAYS AMERICAN CONSUL

Statement of the American Official Has Caused Great Anger in St. Petersburg—Japanese are Ready for Final Grand Assault.

ST. PETERSBURG, November 22.—(2:45 a. m.)—A special dispatch from Tientsin printed here, stating that the American consul at Chefoo nas warned the state department at Washington of the imminence of the fall of Port Arthur, is received with considerable criticism, the allegation being made that the dispatch was prompted by a desire to help the Japanese war loan.

Chefoo, November 21.—3 p. m.—A Japanese official among the latest arrivals from Dalny, states positively that the general attack upon Port Arthur has not been resumed. Rumors to that effect in Dalny have arisen because fresh troops, including the Seventh division, recently landed, are being sent to the front.

It is believed that the explosion which took place on November 16, occurred in some counter tunneling work.

The second explosion which was heard on November 19, was much heavier, and it is reported upon the best authority, was due to the blowing up of a Russian magazine.

It is expected that the next attack upon Port Arthur will be a tremendous affair. More reinforcements are coming to the support of General Nogi than those dispatched to Field Marshal Oyama.

The Japanese are now constructing coast defense forts at Pigeon bay, which is accepted as indicating that they expect to be defending Port Arthur themselves some day.

Blockade Runner is Taken.

Shanghai, November 21.—A former British steamer Thales, sold to Germans, has been captured while attempting to run the Port Arthur blockade and has been taken to Sasebo. She had on board a cargo of clothes, blankets, medicine and an enormous quantity of salt beef.

Russians captured near Port Arthur say that five men of war in the harbor have been rendered useless by the Japanese fire.

At 3 a. m., November 19, a Japanese squadron cruising off Yentai sighted a vessel steaming for Port Arthur. The gunboat Tatsuta pursued and overtook the steamer at 5 in the morning. On board the vessel was found a great quantity of winter clothing, blankets, medicine and corned meats. Her captain said he was bound for Niuchwang.

Trout Come Through Hose From Standpipe

Asheville, N. C., November 21.—While the firemen were clearing up the debris of last night's fire in the Harkins building this morning, about twenty-five small mountain trout were found lying on the street close to the sidewalk. The explanation given by the firemen is that the fish were forced through the hose from the stand pipe, which is situated about a mile and a half from the city limits. It is supposed that when the hose was uncoupled after the fire the trout were released.

Union for Presbyterians.

Philadelphia, November 21.—After a most earnest discussion the Philadelphia presbytery today, by a vote of 82 to 46, decided in favor of the affiliation of the Cumberland Presbyterian church with the Presbyterian church of the United States. According to figures shown at today's meeting 73 of the 245 presbyteries of the United States have voted in favor of affiliation and 7 against. A two-thirds vote of the general assembly is necessary to carry the overture.

MAN AND WOMAN FORM DEATH PACT

Parker Killed Himself and Sweetheart Followed Suit.

Parker Was Seeking Divorce to Marry the Girl and it is Said the Knowledge Drove His Son to Suicide.

Cincinnati, Ohio, November 21.—Coroner Weaver today began an inquest in the case of C. A. Parker, vice president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and Pere Marquette railroad, who fell dead in his office here on Wednesday last. No autopsy was held at the time of his death and the death certificate gave no cause of death, merely saying:

"Inquest pending."

Dr. S. B. Grimes was the first witness examined. He said he was called while Mr. Parker was dying. He smelled a pungent odor as of peach leaves. There were no convulsions. The pupils of the dying man's eyes were dilated. The witness asked what Mr. Parker had taken. He heard a voice say: "Don't say anything," and thought it was a woman's voice. There were several persons present.

Miss Rose Hagerman, stenographer for Mr. Parker, testified that she saw nothing unusual about him that day. He had just returned from Chicago and had dictated some correspondence to her. He gave no appearance of moroseness. She was the only woman present and had no recollection of hearing Dr. Grimes ask what he had taken nor of saying "Don't say anything."

Result of Suicide Pact.

Chicago, November 21.—Suicide while temporarily insane over the loss of her bethrothed was the verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of Ella Gasterling, whose dead body was found Saturday in the girl's apartments at the Vendome hotel. The death of the young woman, according to police theory, may have been the result of a "suicide agreement" entered into by the dead girl and Charles A. Parker, of Cincinnati, a well known railroad official. Parker died suddenly in Cincinnati under circumstances that might indicate that he had taken his own life. The inquest in the case of Miss Gesterling, however, failed to bring out any confirmation of the alleged pact.

Miss Gesterling formerly was one of Parker's stenographers in Denver, Col., and the friendship existing between them was strong enough to cause comment. The result was the girl's removal to Chicago. Correspondence between Parker and the young woman was intercepted by J. W. Parker, the 20-year-old son of the railroad official. In this manner it is said the young man learned that his father contemplated securing a divorce in order that he might marry Miss Gesterling. A grief over this discovery and a feeling of shame at the father's entanglement were the causes, it is believed, of the son's suicide recently in St. Louis.

EUROPE DRAWS ON GOLD STOCK

New York, November 21.—Lazard-Freres have increased their gold engagements for export to $1,800,000. Of this amount $1,000,000 will be shipped on steamer leaving tomorrow, and the balance on Thursday. This exhausts the supply of gold bars at the assay office.

Goldman, Sacks & Co. today engaged $500,000 gold coin for shipment to Paris tomorrow, making $2,300,000 coin and bars to be shipped then. This was the first engagement of gold coin announced since the payments last spring for the Panama canal. The bankers said that with the advance this afternoon on the rate for sterling exchange to 4.87.15, the market had reached a basis where it was easily profitable to export coin. It was believed in financial circles that considerably more gold coin would be exported now that the movement had begun.

The total gold shipped or engaged since the present movement began on October 27 is placed at $23,750,000, of which $9,000,000 went to Cuba.

RAISED HIS CANE TO CASTLEMAN

Prominent Kentuckians in Difficulty at Breckinridge Funeral.

General Castleman Failed to Salute Captain Clay and the Latter Took Umbrage and Tried to Cane the General.

Lexington, Ky., November 21.—(Special.)—General John B. Castleman, of Louisville, and Captain James B. Clay, of this city, came near to blows in the lobby of the Phoenix hotel this morning, and had not friends interfered and ejected the irate grandson of the great commoner from the place there might have been serious trouble. General Castleman was here to attend the funeral of Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge and met Captain Clay in the hotel.

The captain, who has recently been appointed a brigadier general by the Confederate Veterans of Kentucky, admonished General Castleman that he had failed to salute as an officer of superior rank. General Castleman said he recognized no rank in private life and at the same time smiled sarcastically at Captain Clay, saying that he thought the war was over. Captain Clay had raised his cane and was in the act of striking General Castleman when the hotel officer rushed up and took Captain Clay out of the hotel.

JAPS ADVANCE; RUSSIANS FLEE

Oyama Sends a Strong Column Against Da Pass.

Apparently Matters Are Quiet Near Mukden, But the Russians Fear a Great Turning Movement by the Japanese.

Mukden, November 21.—The Russian detachments occupying Da pass have retired before the Japanese column, one thousand strong.

The Japanese are reported to be advancing towards Sintsintin.

Mukden, November 21.—The anticipated general attack by the Japanese has not developed as yet. The uncertainty of the present situation gives rise to conflicting rumors and speculation regarding future operations. Some expect the Japanese to attempt a wide flanking movement in Tie pass and others claim that the armies will practically winter in their present positions. Complete inactivity prevails. The nights are growing colder and fuel is scarcer. Crowds of Chinese are wandering over the fields and roads picking up everything combustible, even the roots of their Chinese corn.

Frequent Skirmishes.

Since the Japanese attack, which they made on Poutiloff hill Novmeber 18, the old order of affairs has been resumed.

There are frequent skirmishes, particularly in the vicinity of the Russian center, where both sides have daily clashed. There was an exchange of artillery fire during the greater part of November 20.

It apears that the affair of November 18 was a reconnoissance in force and that, had it been successful, it was to be followed by a general attack.

The Japanese got within thirty paces of the Russian outer position before being driven back. They left over a hundred dead on the field.

The Russian soldiers are quite comfortable in their dugouts.

The weather continues extremely cold, the thermometer recording 35 degrees of frost. The frost is accompanied by high winds, which carry clouds of dust.

Great Events Imminent.

The reconnoissance fights have assumed a more violent character during the past few days. Particularly hot was the fighting on Poutiloff (Lone Tree hill) where the Japanese were repulsed with the loss of over one hundred killed. All signs indicate that great events are imminent. The road to Sinmintun, owing to the excellent patrol service, is quite safe from Chinese bandits, thus guarding communications with Tientsin and establishing a second line of intercourse with the outside world.

The health of the troops is excellent. The Russians admire the clean lines, perfect order and equipment of the Japanese. One does not see any trace of race hatred. It is a fact that the Japanese return through French intermediation all valuables found on dead Russians. This has made a deep impression here and is reciprocated.

DEED OF DARING IS DONE BY RUSSIAN VOLUNTEERS

St. Petersburg, November 21.—General Kuropatkin, telegraphing under yesterday's date, reports a daring deed accomplished by four volunteers of a Russian patrol November 16. While reconnoitering the patrol discovered a Chinese building occupied by twenty-five Japanese. Four riflemen volunteered to blow up the place, and armed with grenades loaded with pyroxylin, the riflemen succeeded in evading the sentries, exploded the grenades and retired untouched. A few minutes after the grenades exploded, the building was completely wrecked. When the Japanese reinforcements arrived they found all the occupants dead or wounded among the ruins.

Tragedy in the Cab.

"Next morning Young met Nan and they drove down town together in the hansom cab in which the tragedy occurred. After the shooting the revolver, bought on the previous evening at the pawnshop was found in the dead man's righthand coat pocket.

"I am going to call every one that I know knows anything about this case. I am not going to produce J. Morgan Smith because he has left the state. After the purchase of the revolver he was seen quarreling with Nan Patterson near the Sixth avenue pawnshop. He was heard to say to her:

"'You must do it!'

"And she replied:

"'I will not.'

"Then Smith slapped his sister in law's face and pushed her into the cab and sent her home. The witnesses we have are persons who saw the things we expect to prove."

The first witness to be called from among those who were in the vicinity of the cab where Young was shot was William J. Junior, a policeman. His attention had been called to a commotion in the cab by a citizen, and as the vehicle drew up he ordered the driver to stop. As he climbed upon the step, he saw a man whose body had been concealed by the closed door. The man was unconscious. Miss Patterson told him that her companion had shot himself, and he ordered the cabman to drive to a hospital. In the meantime, he had found a revolver in the right hand pocket of Young's coat.

Young's Head in Nan's Lap.

On cross examination he said that when he reached the cab Young's head was in Miss Patterson's lap. His left arm was around her shoulder. Miss Patterson was hysterical and was crying:

"Oh, Caesar! What have you done?"

"Did she say anything else?" asked Mr Levy.

"Yes, she told me he had said to her, 'You may not see me again.'"

Edward Joseph Quinn, the detective who accompanied Miss Patterson from the hospital to the Tombs just after she had been arrested, told of a conversation between himself and the prisoner.

"After she had asked me if I was a policeman," said the witness, "she said, 'Caesar Young was a married man, and he and I were lovers. He was going away, and we might never see each other again.' She then asked me if Caesar Young was dead, and when I replied that he was, she said: 'I don't want to live now. Why should he kill himself. He had everything to live for.'"

"Did she say anything else while you were in the cab with her?"

"Yes, she asked me if I had struck Young on the head. I asked her, 'Why should I do that?' and she replied, 'To kill.'"

She Fainted Several Times.

Quinn said that Miss Patterson fainted several times in the station house. She was very nervous and asked him to kill her, saying that she had nothing to live for, now that Caesar was dead.

"When J. Morgan Smith came to the station house," said the witness, "and the defendant told him that Caesar was dead, he seemed stupefied at the news."

Quinn said that Miss Patterson told him she was looking out of the cab when Young shot himself. At this point the court adjourned until tomorrow.

RUSSIANS CALL FOR CONGRESS

Demand Is Made On Czar for Representative Government.

Proposed Body Will Not Only Have Part in Legislation, But Will Frame Laws for the Empire—Text of the Demand.

St. Petersburg, November 21.—"In order to secure the proper development of the life of the state and the people it is imperatively necessary that there be regular participation of national representatives, sitting as an especially elected body to make laws, regulate the revenue and expenditure and control the legality of the actions of the administration."

The above is the final form of the declaration of the zemstvo representatives in favor of the election of a body, not merely to participate in legislation as at first reported, but to be entrusted with the framing of the laws of the empire.

The meeting today also adopted a declaration in favor of granting amnesty to political offenders imprisoned or exiled by administrative order.

This completed programme declaring the necessity of the participation by the people in the government was signed by 102 zemstvo presidents, including thirty presidents of provisional zemstvo committee out of thirty-two attending the meeting.

This document, setting forth the necessity of reform, is all the more striking and impressive because the zemstvo presidents who signed it, while elected by zemstvo organizations are confirmed by the government. The signatories also included five marshals of the nobility, the elections to which offices are also confirmed by the government.

The memorial will be presented within a couple of days to the minister of the interior, Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky.

The zemstvo meeting will now proceed with the discussion of the remainder of the programme, which, although it directly concerns zemstvo work, is of minor importance. It consists, first, of primary education; second, of the disorganization attendant on mobilization; third, relief measures for the families of those sent to war, and, fourth, red cross work.

LUNG TROUBLE; SKIN DISEASE

Recognized as the Oldest Established and Most Reliable Specialist.

Thin blooded, anemic persons are very liable to suffer from an inflammation of the lungs, or "lung trouble," as it is commonly called, as well as from stubborn affections of the skin. These diseases are due largely to a depleted condition of the system—loss of strength and tissue. The lungs in turn become weak, the chest contracts instead of expanding, the pores of the skin, not being fed by healthy blood, are not sufficiently open, and the constitution being generally run down, there is often a complete deterioration of the functions of the body. Hence, the slightest cold takes firm root, the lungs become inflamed, pneumonia develops and the person's very life is in danger. Or the anemic state of the blood results in some malignant form of skin disease, such as eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, itch, open sores, boils, pimples, etc. I have had abundant success in and I see no reason why I cannot repeat this success in your case. The time to be treated is now, when the disease is in its earlier stages, for it is then more easily conquered. Still, come to me at any time. I will give you a treatment that will promptly stop the further progress of the disease, and cure it in a remarkably short time. Thus you will prevent consumption, and the expense and danger attendant upon this disease, as well as the fever diseases that are so prevalent when the cold weather sets in. There is but one way for a person in this condition to avoid serious consequences; that is to have the body fortified and strengthened. There is no use talking about cod liver oil, the wearing of "protectors" next to the skin, etc., for these are makeshifts that cannot be relied upon. The value of a specialist cannot be overestimated. I will not only give you a treatment for the cure of your disease, but I will give you medical advice on the care of your body that will be of of untold value to you. Likewise in

ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN

I am prepared to give you a treatment that I positively know is curative. I will change the ingredients to suit your individual condition, but the basis of it has ben tested in hundreds of other cases and has invariably resulted in a satisfactory and permanent cure. Skin diseases yield readily to my mode of treatment, whereas with others it often takes months and months. Make up your mind to see me without further delay. I make no charge whatever for a conscientious examination, counsel and advice. If you have seen no doctor yet, come and see me; if you have already been doctored, come to me anyway and get my opinion. I am treating these diseases every day and I undoubtedly have special knowledge that others have not yet acquired. This knowledge is at your service free of charge. My office and laboratory equipment, including the violet rays, which have been found especially effective in certain skin diseases, can be used by any caller without cost. I would naturally like to make the personal acquaintance of each prospective patient, but where this is impossible by reason of distance, I especially urge that you write me a letter regarding your condition, and I will reply promptly and in detail. I will also send a Self-Examination blank and booklet describing your disease, free of cost. Call on or address me as follows: J. NEWTON HATHAWAY, M. FREIGHT RATES UP TO ROOSEVELT

Important Conference Is Held at White House.

Delegation From the West Visits President and Asks Him to Urge that More Power be Given the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Washington, November 21.—Interstate transportation matters with specific reference to the fixing of railroad freight rates formed the subject of an important conference at the white house today. By previous appointment, Governor Samuel R. Van Sant, of Minnesota; Governor A. B. Cummings, of Iowa; E. P. Bacon, of Milwaukee, chairman of the interstate commerce law convention; Frank Barry, of Milwaukee, secretary of the convention, and R. A. Higbie, of New York, an official of the National Lumber Dealers' Association, called on the president to urge him use his influence to secure the enactment of a law which would confer upon the interstate commerce commission power to fix railroad freight rates in the commerce between states.

The subject was considered by the president and the delegation at some length, the members of the party presenting their views as individuals and the resolutions adopted by the interstate commerce law convention which was held in St. Louis in October. The convention included delegates from more than three hundred business and commercial bodies throughout the country. It was pointed out to the president that for ten years prior to 1897 the interstate commerce commission had exercised the power to adjust railroad freight rates in order to prevent discriminations, but that since that time, by reason of a decision of the United States supreme court, the power had been denied. It was asked by the delegation that a law be enacted by congress conferring upon the commission the right to adjust rates when they were found to be discriminative in their operation or in violation of the interstate commerce act.

The delegation also suggested to the president the desirability, as members viewed the matter, of discussing the subject in his forthcoming message to congress. The president did not indicate, however, what his personal views were, contenting himself with giving a careful hearing of the statements made.

COL. BRECKINRIDGE AT REST.

Funeral of the Kentucky Orator Largely Attended.

Lexington, Ky., November 21.—The funeral of Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, held here today at 2 p. m., was the largest since the funerals of Henry Clay and Senator James B. Beck. Leading citizens from all over the blue grass region and lawyers and professional men of other cities were present. All the local civic bodies, confederate comrades, Fayette county and civic bodies to which he belonged, attended in a body, and formed into the procession which escorted the body to the cemetery.

The services were held in the First Presbyterian church, of which he had been a member for over a quarter of a century. City offices and all business houses suspended business during the funeral hours.

One of the most attractive and costly floral designs was sent by Caleb Powers, charged with the Goebel murder, who is in jail in Louisville. Colonel Breckinridge had made a vigorous fight in Powers' behalf and did much in editorial utterances to procure for him an unbiased jury.

TOLD WIFE NO. 2 ABOUT WIFE NO. 1

Bigamist Allen Gates Makes a Confession.

His Second Wife Leaves Him Alone In His Cell—He Decides to Tell All About His Marital Adventures—His Story.

When Bigamist Allen Gates confessed to wife No. 2 last night at the police barracks that he had another wife, she turned away from him and exclaimed:

"Then I am done with you forever."

Upon saying this wife No. 2 walked off and left the bigamist alone in his misery.

Gates was arrested last Saturday by Officers Fleming and Anderson on a warrant from Cedartown, Ga., charging him with bigamy. His last wife did not lose any time calling to see him as she believed him innocent of the charge. When he confessed to her last night all of her love and sympathy were gone.

Gates married his last wife under the name of Allen. The wedding occurred seven weeks ago at Berry, a small town near Cedartown.

After he had made his confession he told the following story of his marital adventures to a reporter of The Constitution:

Bigamist Tells His Story.

"I was married in 1881 in DeKalb county, Alabama, to Miss Mary Hawkins. I have a married daughter and a son who live at Ragland, Ala. My home was originally in Paducah, Ky. I left my first wife about a year ago and came to Atlanta, where I secured work with Charles E. Jones, and I went on the road to sell goods for him. I got on a spree and while drunk I met Mrs. Cora Isbell, a widow, at Berry, Ga., where she kept a boarding house. After knowing her one week I married her under the name of Allen. I just made a fool of myself and I have got to get out of this trouble the best way I can. There is no use lying about the matter, and I decided to tell my second wife the whole truth, and when I did so she very plainly told me she would have nothing more to do with me."

Gates is 40 years of age. He says his last wife was about the same age. He has been residing at the corner of Ira and Crumley streets.

He will be taken to Cedartown, where he will be tried on the charge of bigamy.

Duke was appointed to succeed him. The stockholders of the road at their annual meeting elected the following officers:

President—E. T. D. Myers.

Directors—George W. Stevens, Samuel Spencer, N. S. Meldrum and W. J. Leake.

J. Taylor Ellison was announced as director on the part of the state.

SUTTON'S TRIAL NOW PROGRESSING

Alleged Kidnaper of Alice Skelton Is Facing Jury.

State Rests Case After Introducing Four Witnesses and the Defense Will Open Today, Perhaps Introducing One Dozen Witnesses.

Bainbridge, Ga., November 21.—(Special.)—The case of the State v. O. N. Sutton was called this morning, and after half a day spent in hearing motions for temporary continuance by defense and demurrers to indictment, all of which were overruled, the trial proper began at 2 o'clock.

The state rested late tonight after introduction of four witnesses, consisting of little Alice Skelton, her foster parents and G. B. Brackin.

The little girl testified along the line of former reports, telling of how Sutton seized her while on the back porch of her home, forced her in the buggy, and drove with her 30 miles the same night, carrying her to the home of Ben Russell, in Baker county and leaving her.

She also described with downcast eyes and choking voice how he had attempted criminal assault upon her person, tearing her clothing in his efforts. The clothing was introduced in evidence. After a rigid cross examination, which failed to materially alter her testimony, the little girl was allowed to come down after two hours on the stand.

Her parents testified to her adoption four years ago, and stated that they had secured the orphan girl as a daughter through a want ad inserted in the columns of The Atlanta Constitution, they living in Montgomery at the time.

Bracken testified to the child's joy at seeing her father when he arrived at the home of Russell to bring her back home, and also as to the race between the team containing the officers and the one leaving in advance containing Sutton's lawyer and uncle.

State Rests Case.

The state rested here, and the defense will open tomorrow, probably introducing a dozen witnesses. The line of defense will be the alleged willingness of the little girl to accompany Sutton, and a prearrangement to that effect.

At the conclusion of the kidnaping case Sutton will face the more serious charge of attempted assault, the two trials probably consuming two days.

His wife remains steadfast, and is by his side constantly. A crowded court room denotes the interest felt by the public.

New York, November 21.—The suspension of Alfred M. Lamar, doing a brokerage and banking business on the Consolidated Exchange, was announced on that exchange today. J. Tilleston Welles was appointed receiver for Lamar. His attorney said the liabilities are about $125,000. He believed Lamar would be able to resume in a few days.

Taft Sails for Panama.

New Orleans, November 21.—Secretary Taft and his party sailed today on the steamer Dolphin for Pensacola, where the secretary will transfer to the cruiser Columbia, both vessels going thence to Panama. The secretary was escorted to the wharf by a delegation of representative citizens and went aboard the Dolphin in a drizzling rain. The guns of the vessel saluted as he went up the ship's ladder. Mr. Taft and his party will inspect the jetties on their way to sea.

FEDERAL JUDGE AGAIN ON RACK

Ugly Testimony Given in Case Against Swayne.

Sensational Evidence is Taken by the Sub Committee, Which has Charge of the Impeachment Proceedings—Judge Swyane Present.

Washington, November 21.—A subcommittee of the house judiciary committee today resumed the investigation of the impeachment charges against Judge Charles Swayne, of the northern district of Florida. In the last congress the committee made a majority report recommending the impeachment of Judge Swayne, but minority reports were made against impeachment proceedings by most of the republican members of the committee. Shortly before the adjournment of congress a resolution of impeachment was set for consideration in the house on December 20, the second week of the reassembling of the short session, and the judiciary committee was instructed to continue the investigation.

Representatives Palmer, of Pennsylvania, and Clayton, of Alabama, of the subcommittee, were present today, but Representative Gillett, of California, the other member was unable to attend. The committee, however, decided to go ahead with the investigation, and Charles T. Forbes, a clerk in the general land office, was called as a witness. He testified against Judge Swayne regarding a timber trespass case in Florida, in which he alleged that Judge Swayne had exacted the fine a second time for the trespass.

J. N. Stockton, of Quincy, Fla., testified that J. N. Stripling told him that he (Stockton) could get anything he wanted in the way of receiverships if he would stop the prosecution against Judge Swayne. This occurred ten years ago.

Ellis F. Davis, of Marion, Fla., testified in regard to an attempt to settle the Hoskins contempt case, which was pending before Judge Swayne, for $500.

Judge E. C. Dearborn testified that in 1893 he was a conductor and went with a private car to Delaware and brought Judge Swayne and his family to St. Augustine, Fla., the whole party traveling on passes, the Florida railroad at that time being in the hands of a receiver.

Judge Swayne was present at the investigation and frequently conversed with his attorney, Former Senator Higgins, of Delaware. After hearing Z. H. B. Floyd, whose testimony threw no new light on the case, the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

ARE ARRIVING FOR CONVENTION

Georgia Baptists Pouring Into Columbus for Meeting.

Columbus, Ga., November 21.—(Special.)—Delegates to the state convention of the Georgia Baptists, which will be formally called to order in the First Baptist church in this city tomorrow night, have already begun to arrive.

The indications are that the attendance will be record breaking, as homes have already been assigned to some 600 delegates from all parts of Georgia, and every mail brings to the local committee on hospitality the names of other delegates who are coming.

A. A. Carson is chairman of the committee on hospitality, and he and associates have been working day and night for the past few days.

Dr. W. H. Smith, pastor of the First Baptist church, has appointed a large committee to meet the incoming trains and assist the delegates to their respective homes.

W. F. Upshaw is chairman of this committee. The First Baptist church has a membership of one thousand, and this congregation, with three other Baptist congregations in the city, have made elaborate preparations for the convention.

Mrs. E. D. Burts, the chairman of the local missionary committee, has arranged the programme for the annual session of the Women's Baptist Missionary Union of Georgia, the sessions of which will be held in St. Luke's M. E. church, as there will not be room at the First Baptist church, the main convention being held there.

Mrs. Burts will make an address of welcome, which will be responded to by Mrs. E. Z. F. Golden. The union will be in session until Wednesday night, and during that time many papers will be read and several addresses will be made, including an address on state missions by Dr. S. P. Jameson, of Atlanta, and a missionary address by Rev. J. W. McCullum, of aJpan.

NOT FOR BEST FARM
In the State

"I saw so much in the papers about the wonderful cures effected by Pyramid Pile Cure, I determined to give it a trial. I bought from my druggist one fifty-cent box and used it as directed, and by the time I had used the last 'pyramid' I was entirely cured; in four days after I began to use the 'pyramids' all inflammation was gone. I was perfectly easy all the time, the excessive discharge stopped at once, and stools became easy and gentle.

"I was unable to get my own fire wood for four months, and half the time when I could walk at all I had to walk half bent. I used many pile remedies, salves and ointments, all to no effect, until I used one fifty-cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure and was cured.

"I would not be afflicted as I was four months ago for the best farm in the state of Arkansas. I can give proof and reference of the wonderful cure to all who are afflicted as I was. Please publish my letter that I may advise the afflicted." W. E. Wallis, Piggot, Ark., Box 26.

The experience of Mr. Wallis is that of thousands of others who suffer for years with the most painful forms of hemorrhoids, or piles, and after trying everything they hear of, give up all hope of a cure and look for temporary relief only. To all such a little book published by Pyramid Drug Company, Marshall, Mich., brings glad tidings, as it tells all about the cause and cure of piles, and is sent free for the asking.

FIGHTING FRAUD IN POSTOFFICES

Schemes To Increase Salaries of Postmasters Are Discovered.

Washington, November 21.—Acting First Assistant Postmaster General John J. Howley, in his annual report to the postmaster general, issued today, reviews the efforts made by the department to suppress a tendency at certain offices to resort to alleged irregular and fraudulent methods to increase receipts in order to secure an increase in the salary of postmasters. The padding has occurred at small offices located near large cities and consisted in the sale of large quantities of stamped paper to persons engaged in business and handling their mail in offices other than where they buy their stamps.

The campaign against these irregularities, Mr. Howlet said, has resulted in the reduction of salaries in about forty offices, and in a few instances in reducing the offices to lower grades.

Regarding the practice of detailing postoffice clerks to serve on civil service district boards, Mr. Howley says:

"I am strongly of the opinion that provision should be made in the law for the appointment and payment by the civil service commission of such employees and that the postal service be relieved of this expense. Postmasters object to paying clerks for services not connected with the postoffices."

Twenty postoffice employees are employed on this work.

Rich Paris Model Costumes Greatly Reduced

We have fourteen Paris Model Costumes that we wish to sell at once.

Who made them? One of the leading high-class manufacturers of New York. But the designs emanated from over-sea geniuses---Francis, Drecoll, Callot Soeurs, Doucet, Beer, Agnes, Doeuillet and the inspired Paquin.

They are the Dress Conjurers of the world. America, Mexico, Russia---all the nations of the earth turn to imperial Paris for Women's Dress. And they never fail to find Paris at her best and brightest.

We will not attempt to describe the fourteen Costumes that are the motif of this advertisement. They are ideal for reception and evening wear. Made of delicate Crepe de Chines, Mousseline de Soies, Chiffon, Taffetas and lustrous Liberty Silks. The trimmings lend added graces---chiffon, laces and Persian Bands---true art that may be widely shared and universally appreciated. The colors are: Black, white, cream, beige, coque de roche, light blue, and mahogany brown.

Our regular prices, until today, ranged from

$85.00 to $110.00

When we discussed the revision it was at first decided to offer them at $75.00, and in all conscience that price was low enough.

But the chief of the department was anxious to avoid any possibilty of taking two bites at this particular cherry, so the figure finally settled upon is

$48.75

The materials are worth much more than we ask. No modiste in Atlanta would charge less $50.00 for the work of copying any one of them.

Safety in Buying Furs

There is nothing that people buy of which they know so little, speaking generally, as furs: You can tell whether a piece of silk is fine and good; whether a yard of dress goods is all it is said to be---but who knows about furs?

If it were not for the many tricks that are used in the fur trade, it would be just as easy to buy furs as to buy anything else. But furs are glossed over with a color that will last six months or more; blended and dyed and sold for what they are not---until nobody knows exactly what paying for.

The only way to be sure is to buy at a store so careful about its statements and dealing that you are just as safe in furs as you are in coats or wraps.

POULTRY SHOW ASSUMING SHAPE

Splendid Exhibits Will Be Made Next January.

Arrangements are now being made by the Atlanta Poultry Association, of which Mayor Evan P. Howell is president, for the annual exhibit of poultry and pigeons in Atlanta during the week of January 4 to 11.

A rate of a fare and one-third has been secured from the Southeastern Passenger Association for the week during which the poultry show is to be open. These rates are to be given under the certificate plan, and the certificates will be in the hands of all station agents in this section of the country.

For all entries there will be first and second prizes of $2 and $1, respectively, which will go with the blue and red ribbons, and these will be in addition to an unusually large number of special prizes, which will be offered by the merchants of Atlanta.

The premium lists will be ready for distribution by December 1, and the entries will close on December 31. All classes are open to the world, and already a number of northern fanciers have announced their intention of showing their birds here.

The directors of the poultry association are of the opinion that the show which will be given here next January will be by far the largest and best that has ever been attempted in this section of the country.

Highly Indorsed.

Rev. Walker Lewis, the well-known Methodist minister, writes: "I have used Dr. Mozley's Lemon Elixir in my family with very beneficial results. It is an admirable medicine and excellent as a tonic and liver regulator.

NEGRO ABUSED WHITE WOMAN

Augustus Baker Held for Mistreating Mrs. Van Winkle.

Mrs. Mary J. VanWinkle, of 78 East Baker street, appeared in police court yesterday afternoon before Acting Recorder Terrell to prosecute Augustus Baker, a negro, who runs a wood and coal yard at 296 Piedmont avenue. The acting recorder was very much incensed at the way Mrs. VanWinkle had been treated by the negro and he held him in a $200 bond on the charges of using profane language in the presence of a female and for assault and battery.

Mrs. VanWinkle stated that a sick woman living with her bought 10 cents worth of wood from Baker and he sent it to the house by a boy. Fifty cents was given the boy and he left and never returned with the change.

"I held the hand cart," stated Mrs. VanWinkle, "in which the wood had been delivered until the sick woman was given her change. Baker came to the house very angry and said I did not have a damn thing to do with it. He then jerked the hand cart from me so fiercely that I was nearly thrown to the ground."

Baker denied the charge against him.

"This is a most outrageous case," remarked the acting recorder, 'and I will let a higher court pass on the affair."

Baker made the bond required and was released.

I have taken Mozley's Lemon Elixir for more than twenty-five years, and do not hesitate to say that it has no equal as a laxative and general tonic. It has always kept my appetite hearty, and I eat anything I want, knowing that a dose of Elixir will prevent any unpleasant effects. I am now 73 years old and am in splendid health, which I know is due in a great measure to Mozley's Lemon Elixir. Mrs. R. P. Keith, 570 Spring st., Atlanta, Ga.

NOTED OUTLAW LAID TO REST

Taylor Delk Was Buried Yesterday in Hollywood Cemetery.

The funeral services of Taylor Delk, who has been serving a life sentence for the murder of W. O. Gwyn, sheriff of Pike county, were conducted yesterday and his interment took place at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Hollywood cemetery in the presence of a few friends and relatives.

The body was brought to Atlanta from the prison farm in Milledgeville, where he died Sunday from an attack of heart falure. At the time of his death the pardon board was considering his case and had he lived he would probably have secured his liberty, as he had proved to be a model prisoner and had given the authorities little trouble

The services were simple and impressive. The fact that the interment would take place in Atlanta yesterday was kept quiet, at the request of the family, who desired to conduct the services quietly, free from the presence of the many curious ones who would attend the funeral.

Story of the Crime.

The crime for which Taylor Delk was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment and his son, Tom Delk, was hanged, took place in Pike county in 1898.

Taylor Delk, previous to the murder, lived in Concord, Ga. The father was engaged in the work of butchering and selling beef, and it is alleged frequently stealing cattle for that purpose. He had been charged with burglarizing a store in Concord. For these things, however, he was not arrested, as the people were afraid of him. He had been heard to say that he would "torch" them if they bothered him.

Finnally, however, an old one-legged man by the name of Harris was held up and robbed, and he charged that the parties who did it were Taylor Delk and Tom Langford. Both men were indicted by the grand jury, and as soon as the warrants were placed in the hands of Sheriff Gwyn he summoned a posse of half dozen men and went to Concord to the Delk house for the purpose of arresting him.

When he arrived there Delk, who had been informed that he was coming, had planned to resist the arrest, and he and his son Tom Delk, at the time an escaped convict, together with Tom Langford, refused to admit the sheriff into the house, Tom stating that the old man was not there. The sheriff being warned by some of his men turned to walk away from the house, and was shot down. The fire was returned by the posse, and for several minutes a regular battle was waged. Captain John Maddon then tried to remove the body of his friend, the sheriff, who was now dying, but in the attempt was shot in the legs, while the sheriff was killed.

A little later the men in the house managed to escape, as the posse had left the field. Taylor Delk was captured after some time had elapsed by Atlanta detectives, and Tom Delk was also arrested by a man named Williams, of Coweta county.

A long legal fight resulted after the arrest of the father and the son. Finally Tom Delk was hanged and his father sentenced to life imprisonment.

Atlanta's Stove and Range House.

We carry the strongest line of heaters, cook stoves and ranges to be found. We not only show one line, but we have six different lines from which you may select. We show from the cheapest to the very best. Buyers gain knowledge by comparing the different grades of stoves, and here they can see the difference between a cheap Range and a good Range. This advantage alone is worth a visit to our store.

If we were to show you only one make, and inform you that it was the best that skilled labor could produce, made of the very best material, you would have no way of proving it; but if you are looking at our lines and see the medium priced stove with light material in its construction, and next, our very best substantial makes, you would not have to be an expert to tell the difference.

We carry the Majestic, the Monitor Steel and Acorn Steel Ranges, which are the highest grades manufactured in this country; also the medium priced steel cook stove, and the cheap $7.00 cast iron cook stove.

OUR $38.50 RANGE.

Our $38.50 Range is the biggest bargain ever offered, and you will say so if you will call and see it or write for circulars.

There is not a mail order house in existence which carries as complete a line, and we are the only dealers in the city offering buyers the advantage of comparison.

We take pleasure at all times in answering any corresponence, and we will be delighted to have you inspect our stock.

CASE DECIDED IN FAST TIME

Jury Finds Verdict Against Henderson for Full Amount.

Macon and Birmingham Matter Now Resolves Itself into Prosecution of the Indictments Against Henderson and Lane for Embezzlement.

Macon, Ga., November 21.—The case of the Macon and Birmingham railroad against E. R. Henderson, auditor, for recoveries of money alleged to have been lacking in his account, amounting to about $43,000, with interest, was quickly decided in the superior court today.

Only one witness, the expert accountant, was examined. The attorney for the respondent submitted no dissent and the judge directed the jury to return a verdict for the full amount claimed.

This is the end of a civil suit which will be immediately followed by the prosecution of indictments against Henderson for embezzlement.

The prosecuting witness in the case was Julian R. Lane, formerly the general manager of the railroad, who himself is under indictment, the charge being preferred by Henderson. It is expected that all these cases will be determined at the present term of court.

The disclosure of the trouble in the office of the Macon and Brunswick a year ago was quickly followed by the taking over of the Macon and Birmingham railroad by the owners of the Georgia Southern and Florida, amounting to a practical extension of the latter's line from Jacksonville through Macon to its Southern railway connection at LaGrange, Ga.

GREAT SUBWAY FOR CHICAGO

Railway Freight To Be Transported Through Tunnels.

New Company Capitalized at $50,000,000—Leading Financiers Are Interested in System and it is Said King of England Will Take Stock

Chicago, November 21.—The Chicago Subway Company, with a capital stock of $50,000,000, and composed of men who represent 90 per cent of the railroads having Chicago terminals, was organized today, and took over the $30,000,000 company here which has built 15 miles of freight tunnels under the city's streets. The vast tonnage of the railroads represented by the financiers in the new corporation will be diverted into the company's tunnels, which are already under every street in the business district of Chicago. Apparently in connection with the mammoth deal Sir Earnest Cassel, the financial adviser of the king of England, was in Chicago today with Jacob Schiff, head of the international banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who is heavily interested.

Men who will enter the directory of the new corporation are Edward H. Harriman, the principal factor in the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific, and a big factor in the Alton and Illinois Central; James Stillman, president of the National City Bank of New York, and a factor in the control of a large number of great eastern and western systems, notably the Chicago and Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroads; and Jacob Schiff, New York, a member of the Wall street firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and a big factor in the Pennsylvania system.

The subway company has taken over, it is announced officially, the entire stock of the Illinois Telephone Construction Company, 66 2-3 per cent of the stock of the $30,000,000 Illinois Tunnel Company, and stands ready to take over all the remaining stock of the tunnel company at the terms on which it acquired the two-thirds.

The Illinois company will remain the home operation corporation, but owned by the Chicago Subway Company, of New Jersey.

At present the Illinois Tunnel Company has completed about 15 miles of tunnels in down-town Chicago. The bores are 6½ feet wide by 7 feet high, although in places the dimensions are 10 by 12 feet. Two thousand tons of freight a day are being handled.

The new owners will extend and improve the system and as fast as possible the steam railway freight of the Harriman-Stillman-Schiff and other trunk railroads will be transported through the underground system.

NEGRO NURSES WERE FAILURE

Superintendent of Alabama Insane Asylum Makes Report

Declares that He has Found It Necessary to Replace Negro Nurses of Negro Patients with White Nurses to Secure Efficiency.

Montgomery, Ala., November 21.—(Special.)—The report of the trustees and officers of the Alabama insane hospitals, the Bryce, at Tuscaloosa, and the Mount Vernon, at Mount Vernon, just submitted to the governor, makes some interesting showings. The general health of the inmates has been good and there have been no epidemics within the time covered by the report, the year ending September 30.

Negro help has proven a failure at the Mount Vernon hospital, where negro patients are cared for, and white nurses have been substituted. The patients are managed along humane lines, though more room is badly needed. The trustees highly compliment the management of the hospital and the work of Dr. J. T. Searcy, the efficient superintendent.

The outside work at the hospitals has made a fine showing. The production of vegetables and farm truck has been very large and has been used to great advantage in the expenses of the institution and has been, therefore, a great saving. A great deal of fruit has been cared for. A number of new improvements have been made, including a laundry, infirmaries at both hospitals and increase in the water supply.

The statements of patients show that there were on the books at the beginning of the year ending September 30, 1,822 patients, 1,322 white and 500 colored. This number has been increased and decreased from time to time, leaving the figures 1,733 now under care, 495 of whom are colored. There are 199 colored men and 240 colored women at the Mount Vernon hospital. The total number admitted to the two hospitals during the year was 596, of whom 166 were negroes; 2,418 were treated and 181 died. There were 897 applicants, 123 of which were declined.

Negro Help a Failure.

A very interesting feature of the report of Dr. Searcy, the superintendent, was that which has to do with the effort to develop negro helpers as nurses and attendants for the negro hospital at Mount Vernon. "For two years we worked faithfully," says Dr. Searcy, "to get suitable negro men and women. We spent considerable money advertising and sending out employees in the southern part of the state to find colored attendants. They so generally proved inefficient and untrustworthy and were so unstable in their connection with the hospital, we decided last year to employ white men and women. Considering all the worry and additional expense in obtaining and keeping suitable negro nurses, the white nurses have proven less expensive and greatly more efficient. A noticeable change was at once observed in the care of the patients and in their satisfaction. The generally improved efficiency in the management of the wards is very apparent."

Patients Admitted.

The total number of patients admitted since the opening of the hospital in 1861 is 5,071 men and 4,221 women, a total of 9,892. Of this number 1,505 men and 1,225 women, 2,730 in all, died.

The number of patients from each county during the last fiscal year show that Jefferson leads with 142 white and 47 colored. Mobile comes next with 118 whites and 60 colored, while Montgomery is third with 49 whites and 37 colored. Tuscaloosa is fourth with 52 white and 24 colored. Covington county is the lowest on the list, having only 6, all white. Winston has 8 whites, Baldwin 8 whites and 1 colored, and Houston 6 whites and 2 colored. Sixty-two counties have less than fifty and five more. There is one patient credited to the penitentiary and one to Louisiana. How they came to be thus designated is not made plain.

THEATERS.

The Grand.

Miss Helen Grantly in "Her Lord and Master" was the attraction at the Grand last night. That Miss Grantly has some very ardent admirers in Atlanta was proved by the several exquisite floral offerings which she received. This young actress is molded something along the lines of Miss Maud Adams, and her beauty is rather of the spirituelle type. Perhaps her "naturalness" is a trifle too studied and her independent American ways may sometimes become mere mannerisms, but there were many times when she added little touches that proved both conscientious work and artistic appreciation.

MISS HELEN GRANTLY.
Who Made an Excellent Impression at the Grand Last Night in "Her Lord and Master."

"Her Lord and Master" is the story of an independent American girl, who marries an English lord and later loves him for his mastership and dominating will. The story takes too long in the telling and a type of "American women" portrayed that is improbable rather than characteristic. There are some impossible situations that could be eliminated with profit. Unfortunately, the English types tasted rather more of Indiana than the British empire, but the applause received proved that they were entertaining. S. L. Richardson made much of the part of an old servant.

Mrs. Paul Gilmore, whose delightful role in "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" pleased so many last week, was among the audience last night. Mrs. Gilmore gave a box party to a number of friends. The party included Mr. and Mrs. William Percy, Jack Shropshire, Earnest Duncan, Miss Dillon, Miss Nan Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Akers and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Akers.

"Ranson's Folly."

Aside from the personal vogue enjoyed by Robert Edeson, the star of "Ranson's Folly," a factor in its popularity—it was presented 100 times at the Hudson theater, New York—is its exploitation of manly men and womanly women. The portrayal of manliness on the stage is always appealing to theategoers and there is no one among the popular stars of today that is more notable for virility and sincerity than Mr. Edeson. The play is a dramatization of Richard Harding Davis' story and it could not have been better to the star had it been fashioned for him. Ranson is a lieutenant in a western army post. To promote a little excitement he lays a wager with his brother officers that he will hold up the stage coach with a pair of shears. Unfortunately a desperado decides to rob the same stage for treasure as does Jeff Cahill, the post trader and the father of the girl Ranson loves. Ranson holds up the stage and the desperado the paymaster and shoots him. The lieutenant is arrested at the instance of Cahill, who wishes to rid himself of an unwelcome suitor for his daughter's affections. The resulting complications are ingeniously contrived and of course eventually unraveled, the lieutenant winning the girl of course.

Mr. Edeson, under the direction of Henry B. Harris, will be seen here at the Grand on Wednesday and Thursday nights, November 23 and 24, with a special matinee on Thanksgiving day.

Joseph Murphy.

Joseph Murphy, the popular Irish comedy actor, will begin Friday evening his annual engagement in this city at the Grand, presenting his favorite Irish dramas, "Shaun Rhue" and "Kerry Gow." Mr. Murphy is as well known as any actor on the stage and it is unnecessary to dwell on his merits as an entertainer. His art is finished, original and always fresh. He is not artificial, but simply the living and moving embodiment of the character he is impersonating. He has a musical voice, a pleasing personality, and above all, never panders to the taste of any one not caring for a refined performance.

Mr. Murphy will appear in "The Kerry Gow" on Friday night and "Shaun Rhue" Saturday matinee and night.

The Virginian.

Kirke La Belle and Owen Wister have made a play of Mr. Wister's novel of the wild west, "The Virginian," and we are to see it at the Grand November 28 and 29. Those who have read Mr. Wister's book will look for a charming romance. The story deals with the round-up, the "rustlers," the Indians, the impromptu shooting match and the lynching of cattle thieves. But most important of all is the romantic wooing of the cowboy hero and the dainty little Vermont school teacher. The two lovers are to be impersonated by Dustin Farnum and Helen Holmes.

At the Bijou.

"Rachel Goldstein," with dainty Louise Beaton in the title role, will probably prove one of the most popular attractions seen at the Bijou this season.

The play itself is a melodrama, in which several unscrupulous persons attempt (unsuccessfully of course) the undoing of Rachel, the immigrant. There are pistols, treachery, knockout drops and all the standard accessories to the modern melodrama.

But it is not these things that make the production attractive. It is the pretty face, the charming smile and the musical voice of little Miss Beaton, who simply captivated the crowded house assembled at the Bijou last night to welcome her.

There are a number of clever people in the cast, among them being E. L. Walton, who figures as Samuel Goldstein, the heroine's father; Joe Rubens, the hero; Policeman Mike O'Hara and Malcolm Bradley and Lillian Hale Emery, the latter two assuming the roles of villainous trouble makers.

Dr. Leonard, Jr., Surgeon.

Talbotton, Ga., November 21.—(Special.) Dr. William P. Leonard, of Talbotton, has received from the Central Railroad Company the appointment of Central railroad surgeon at Geneva. Dr. Leonard succeeds the late Dr. W. H. Philpot.

The Austrian diet acts as if it had been dissipating on a Welch rarebit.

The New York horse show is drawing as well as the Nan Patterson trial.

The Atlantic Coast Line railroad has declared a 25 per cent dividend. Another southern prosperity straw.

It is the pneumonia season. Have a care for your health and don't be afraid of fresh air and exercise.

The Russian bear in Manchuria wishes it could hibernate; it would save a very vexatious commissariat problem.

Judge Parker has opened a law office in New York city. Of course, his specialty will be anti-trust litigation.

Nan Patterson, being a shrewd judge of masculine nature, keenly appreciates a jury that she can made eyes at.

As Nan Patterson grows more interesting the number of men who saw Caesar Young shoot himself increases.

The Des Moines Daily News declares that those who fancied they had killed the "Iowa idea" left the tail still wriggling.

Irish-America is now a generation or two removed from the "old sod." Over 6,000 of the 8,000 policemen in New York are native born Americans.

The party label is not everything. Let us hope that during the next four years the present administration at Washington will prove "safe and sane."

"Money is plentiful and cheap," says Secretary of the Treasury Shaw. This is calculated to encourage the madam to make an extra hard Christmas touch.

The democratic farmers of southern Missouri are so cut up over the state giving its electoral vote to Roosevelt that they want to be annexed to Arkansaw.

Charlie Schwab has a practical eye for the bellicose possibilities of the administration. He wants to organize a cannon trust to compete with the Krupps.

There is a way by which President Roosevelt can change his "sadness" toward the south to the "smile that won't come off." Our Sunday cartoon gave him the pointer.

Pension Commissioner Ware, who has resigned, holds that "two years in the pension office are equivalent to four in hell." Thus the aftermath of war, as well as war itself, is h—l.

The chief of police of Reno, Nev., has formally notified all negroes to leave town, the order being the result of an epidemic of negro criminality. Note—This is not a "southern outrage."

Adjutant General Sherman Mars Bell, of Colorado, will shake American dust from his feet and settle in Mexico. And President Diaz has just succeeded in making Mexico stable. He'd better watch the newcomer.

President Roosevelt is developing a fine brand of humor. He is about to placate the south, his first act along that line being to push the confirmation of Dr. Crum as collector in Charleston.—New York Evening Telegram.

Oh, no; that would not be making the deed square with the word.

Uncle Sam has 75,000 postoffices and 500,000 miles of postal routes, with a yearly travel over them amounting to 500,000,000 miles. The receipts now almost equal the expenditures and have doubled in the last ten years. This is a most encouraging showing and one of which the average American citizen is proud.

The Great American Scratcher.

Is political independence growing in America? The average democrat, his eyes still blinded with the dust of the recent republican landslide, will be inclined, in first blush, to give a negative answer. The wide difference between mugwump promises and performance at the polls has not impressed him with the numerical importance of the independent vote.

But there were hundreds of thousands of independent votes cast at the late election, as a brief analysis of the returns of the various states will show. The great American scratcher got in his work most effectively.

At least ten states of the union furnish striking example of the fact that the recent election was not conducted on the "strict" idea of partisanship. In every one of these states local issues caused a wide disparity between the pluralities for president and governor, in four of them democratic candidates receiving substantial pluralities for governor in the face of overwhelming pluralities for the republican presidential ticket.

The New York Globe compiles the following significant table in illustration of this point:

State.	Plurality. Roosevelt.	Governor.
Colorado..	15,000	15,000	dem
Massachusetts	18,000	35,000	dem
Michigan	160,000	50,000	rep
Minnesota	125,000	15,000	dem
Missouri..	28,000	30,000	dem
New Jersey	60,000	40,000	rep
New York	176,000	80,000	rep
Rhode Island	16,000	600	rep
West Virginia..	25,000	10,000	rep
Wisconsin	125,000	50,000	rep

If you will take your pencil and resort to a little simple mathematics you will find that these ten states show a difference of 680,000 votes as between president and the governors.

Continuing the analysis further it is shown that an average of 34,000 voters who cast their votes for Roosevelt voted for democratic gubernatorial candidates.

So much for the votes for president and governor alone in the states named. There was general scratching of ballots all along the line, down to the pettiest office involved. In the entire United States more than a million independent votes were cast, taking the disparity in the pluralities for presidential electors and governors as the basis for the estimate.

This does not prove the pessimistic plaint of some skeptics on popular sovereignty that the people go to the polls like dumb driven cattle. It shows that, at least, a powerful minority of them vote for men and measures rather than for a mere party label.

This showing, taken in conjunction with the tremendous popular plurality for Theodore Roosevelt, is a great tribute to the president's popularity with the American people. The more the returns are analyzed, the more the conviction grows that his victory was more personal than partisan.

Doubtless, the personal element figured largely in the result, but there is another factor equally large, if not larger, a factor that, oddly enough, we never hear mentioned in discussions of the absorbing question, "What hit the democratic party?" We refer to the sentimental influence of the tragic fate of William McKinley upon very many American voters. The sad chapter in American history written at Buffalo, N. Y., made an impression upon the people that was bound to lose but little of its sympathetic force in the ensuing three years. Mr. Roosevelt had the deepest sympathy of his countrymen because of the tragic circumstances under which he was inducted into the presidency, and the way he bore himself at the time won general public admiration. The people never lost sight of the fact that he was filling out President McKinley's term, and he made it clear enough that he held the same view of his elevation, his profession ever being that he was carrying out McKinley policies.

For this reason hundreds of thousands of American voters believed that Mr. Roosevelt had earned an administration of his own, and they were glad of the opportunity to say "well done" to him by their ballots. This, in large measure, explains why he captured the so-called independent vote, and many democratic votes.

The fragrant memory of McKinley and public indignation at the nature of his untimely taking off went far in the interest of the republican party at the late election. The people have long memories and they are true to a tender sentiment.

Perhaps, if the matter could be analyzed on this basis, it would be found that President Roosevelt's strong hold on the American people originated in that Buffalo death chamber, and that the deep impression made upon the country by the diabolical act of an anarchist served to popularize the successor of the martyred president as no official act of his nor his personal power could have done.

This was an influence the democracy may not have reckoned with.

Copper in Georgia.

Considerable attention is given to the subject of copper in Georgia in a recent bulletin issued by the United States geological survey under the title of "Contributions to Economic Geology, 1903." The pamphlet is the result of investigations made last year by Walter Hervey Weed, of that department of the government service.

It has long been known that deposits of copper ore have been found in northern Georgia, these veins being extensions of the Ducktown copper region of Tennessee. Copper minerals have been found in large or small quantities in Union, Towns, Cherokee, Paulding, Haralson, Carroll, Murray, Fulton, Lincoln and Greene.

Gold veins in the Dahlonega mining district have long been known to show occasional formations of copper ore, but quite recently a well marked vein has been discovered in Lumpkin county which contains a large mass of pyrite, bearing an average of 3 per cent of copper. From the working of this vein, it is expected that considerable copper will be produced.

Lincoln county has also seen considerable development lately at the old Magruder gold mine, which is now known as the Seminole copper mine. The property has yielded a considerable quantity of high grade ore.

Gold and copper is also found in small quantities in Cobb county, the eastern portion of the Carroll county gold belt traversing the northwest corner. Some of the veins appear 1½ miles east of Acworth and others near Lost mountain. The hills of Fannin and of Rabun contain gold and copper ore of unknown extent.

The other resources of the regions in which copper ore occurs have hitherto proved more inviting than the working of this mineral. The character of ore in north Georgia, while smaller in formation than that of the Ducktown regions, is found to be of the same grade, and may soon become of economic importance.

The time may come when the new battle ship Georgia will be sheathed with Georgia copper, when the mills of the state will use copper sulfate derived from the product of Georgia mines in dyeing and printiug, and when the most artistic halftones in book and magazine work will be printed from Georgia copper plates.

Let Us Have the University.

The public-spirited people of Atlanta will not allow the great Presbyterian university project to drop because opposition has developed in two synods sufficient to thwart the original movement for uniting all southern Presbyterianism in a truly representative institution of learning in Atlanta.

This opposition was expected, naturally enough, though it is regrettable, for the cause of higher education, that local influences in the premises have proven too strong to be overcome.

However, the southeast, or the eastern southern states, are practically a unit in favor of a great central Presbyterian university being built in Atlanta, and if the school is erected here there is no doubt that it will receive the patronage of the majority of southern Presbyterians and result to the advantage of that great body of Christians. The great majority of the synods favored the Atlanta school, and the proper persistence on Atlanta's part at this stage of the campaign will easily result in a great Presbyterian university being established in Atlanta yet.

We believe the people of Atlanta can be depended upon to agree to any modified plans made necessary by the failure of the original proposition, and that, if the friends of the project will continue to bestir themselves, the result will be satisfactory to all concerned.

Let the good work proceed on such revised lines as may be deemed necessary.

Royalty at the Horse Show.

The upper swelldom of New York is just now basking in the radiance of such an aggregation of royalty as has never in American history lent its effulgence to our dull democratic atmosphere. The New York Evening Mail prints a long list of the various foreign notables making glad the hearts of the anxious metropolitans, heading its report with the name of Sadonaru Fushimi, of Japan, the adopted brother of the mikado.

The Mail next interpolates the following luminous paragraph:

The horse show is a boon to these titled foreigners, for it has rounded up our thoroughbreds for their inspection. We grieve to say that not only was the duke of Manchester quite lost at the show the other night, but suffered the indignity of having the magnificently attired horse dentist of one of the Vanderbilts mistaken for him.

The keen humor of this observation is worthy the columns of that recognized Pierrot of national journalism, The New York Sun. We question, in fact, if The Sun could improve on its pithiness, consisting as it does of a simple statement and leaving the laugh to the reader—and the average American reader will have little difficulty in discovering where the laugh comes in. Manchester will be remembered as the British sprig of royalty who wooed and won the wealthy Miss Zimmerman, of Cincinnati, whose good American dad had such a parlous time compounding with the creditors of his highness. As soon as the tradesmen creditors heard of the duke's arrival in Liverpool, they laid frenzied and inexorable siege to all his visible means. The situation was naturally embarrassing and the haggling which ensued between the new papa in law and the persistent shopkeepers is said to have been highly refreshing to those not directly involved.

As long as our American papers maintain their present sane viewpoint on such matters, there is no danger of pernicious Europeanisms being grafted on our social body. Ridicule, when it is backed by veracity, is ever more effective than preachment.

BOGUS SILVER HALF DOLLARS.

Lot of Them Made by Counterfeiters in Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, November 21.—An abandoned counterfeiter's office with complete outfit for the making of spurious silver half dollars has been discovered in a thicket of Bullitt park. In all, fifteen dies were secured, together with a quantity of supplies. Memoranda found with the tools show that approximately $4,000 were made before the camp was located, on which the counterfeiters figured to realize a profit of 95 per cent. Investigation proves that the operators disguised themselves as women and so avoided suspicion.

STATE GOSSIP CAUGHT IN CAPITOL CORRIDORS

JUST before his departure for Wisconsin with the Peabody party, comprising the state university trustees, who go to visit the University of Wisconsin and other institutions, Hon. Clark Howell, in response to queries from several newspaper men regarding his candidacy for governor, made the following statement:

"The fact that two other announcements have already been made perhaps justifies me in saying, even thus early, that I will be in the race, that my friends may know of my intentions.

"The people are just out of one campaign, and it is rather early to precipitate another; indeed, I will not do so further than to say to my friends and well wishers in all parts of the state that at the proper time I shall make formal announcement presenting my candidacy to the consideration of the voters of the state. The statement I am now making, and any formal announcement that may afterwards be made, will perhaps not be received as a matter of news, for without any word from me, or any effort to build up a sentiment favorable to my candidacy, the idea seems to have been prevalent for some time that I would be in the race, and many of my friends have been moving accordingly. I suppose this grew out of the thought that as president of the senate, the suggestion was logical and the promotion not unreasonable. At any rate, whatever may be the cause of it, I am in a position where, in justice to myself and to those whose friendly interest has been so earnestly manifested in my behalf, it may be said that I will at the proper time go before the people, take the matter up with them, and abide by the result of the primary."

Only Fifty to a Company.

The maximum limit of a military company in Georgia, on a peace basis, will hereafter be fifty enlisted men.

General orders No. 12, published yesterday by Adjutant General S. W. Harris, conveys this information to the state militia, and it is one of the most important orders issued in months. It applies to all branches of the service, infantry, cavalry and artillery, and includes both white and colored companies.

Up to the time of the issuance of this order Georgia military companies might have enlisted as high as 106 men, the minimum, in which no change has been made being thirty-five.

The policy of cutting down the size of the companies was recently determined upon by the governor and adjutant general for several reasons. In the first place the adjutant general has had a great deal of trouble in supplying equipment. Some companies in the state have been recruited to a strength of 75 or 80, and then allowed their enlistment to drop down to 50 or 60, with the result that they drew on the state for a great deal of equipment which became idle as soon as the men began to drop out. The companies would keep this equipment on hand and when the state needed equipment for small growing companies or those newly established it has been forced to buy it from the United States war department. Now it is proposed to allow each company only sufficient equipment for fifty men, and all the balance must be turned in.

There were other reasons, too, which led to the adoption of this policy among them being the fact that sometimes, as the result of rivalry between companies in the matter of enlistments, poor material is taken in. Then, too, while some companies in the cities are flourishing, others are barely able to keep up the minimum enlistment.

Recently, when it was decided to muster in the new company at Moultrie, there were found eighty-three would-be soldiers on the rolls. Colonel A. J. Scott, in accordance with instructions, cut the enlistad number down to forty-three, leaving room for the enlistment of seven more members to make up the maximum.

This order will not require companies now having an excess of fifty men to cut down their enlistment at once, but it will prevent them from enlisting any more men until their present number falls below fifty.

The order, which will be read with interest by the militia of the state, is as follows:

"State of Georgia, Adjutant General's Office, Atlanta, Ga., November 18 1904.—General Orders No. 12.—No company of infantry, cavalry or artillery, white or colored shall have upon its rolls more than fifty or less than thirty-five enlisted men, including all reserve enlistments in the maximum.

"Companies now having an enlistment exceeding fifty men may retain the surplus men in service until expiration of their present term, but no new enlistments will be permitted until the strength is reduced below fifty men.

"No company will be issued equipment in excess of fifty of any article, except such as is issued to officers, and all companies now having more than that number on hand will report the surplus without delay to this office and hold same subject to further instructions.

"By order of the governor:
"S. W. HARRIS,
"Adjutant General."

Funds Are Getting Low.

Now that it is getting time to pack up the Georgia exhibits at the St. Louis exposition and bring them home, account of funds on hand is being taken with a view to finding out just how things stand.

The legislature appropriated $30,000 for a state museum, which was converted into the Georgia exhibit. The bulk of this exhibit will be brought back to Georgia in accordance with the legislative enactment, and placed on the third floor of the capitol building.

There is left only $2,000 of this original fund of $30,000, which is just about sufficient to pay the remaining expenses connected with the various features of the exhibit. It will cost considerable to pack it for shipment, and there are some other expenses in connection with it which will have to be met. This does not include the expense of transportation back to Georgia, for the railroads will bring it back free of cost, that being the agreement when the freight was paid going out. It is expected the exhibit will be back in Atlanta and installed in the capitol building before January 1.

But the Georgia state building fund did not pan out quite so well. At the present time this fund is fully $300 short, and there is no prospect in sight of coming out even. It is expected to reduce this shortage about $100, but beyond that the commissioners have no hopes. Several cities throughout the state have failed to make good their contributions to the Georgia state building fund, whereas, if they had all been paid, there would have been sufficient to maintain it in even better style than has been done. The failure to secure all of these subscriptions, however, necessitated the closest economy, with the result that there will be an inevitable shortage of at least $200. Governor Terrell and Commissioner of Agriculture O. B. Stevens became responsible for all the expenses connected with the Georgia building, and it is understood they will have to make good this amount.

Arbor Day Suggestions.

State School Commissioner W. B. Merritt, just before departure for Wisconsin with the Peabody party, sent out to the county school commissioners of the state an interesting circular letter relating to Arbor day on December 2, which will be observed in all the public schools of the state.

With regard to Arbor day, Commissioner Merritt says:

I want to suggest a plan which will greatly increase the interest in Arbor day, and to ask your active and prompt co-operation: Each county school commissioner might secure donations for one or more school libraries to be given to the school or schools in his county which may be most successful in the proper observance of Arbor day exercises, tree planting and its attendant studies during the months of December, 1904, and January, 1905. In awarding the libraries I suggest that you take into consideration the efforts of the schools in the directions indicated below:

1. The number and selection of trees and flowers planted; other improvements of school grounds; improvement of school building, including interior decorations. (If possible pictures should be taken before and after improvements are made.)

2. Trees and flowers planted by the children at their homes.

3. Essays on the following subjects:

a. How to transplant and care for trees.

b. Practical plans and suggestions for improving school house and grounds.

c. The culture and value of flowers and trees.

d. The care and value of varieties of fruit trees that are best adapted to my county.

e. The most useful forest trees of Georgia, and the best plan for preserving the proper forest areas in our state.

As soon after January 31 as convenient, please have your teachers report to you the results of their efforts in the observance of Arbor day season.

I am pleased to announce to you that ten school libraries have been donated to be given as rewards to those counties whose schools take most interest in the work of Arbor day along the lines indicated above. In awarding these circulating libraries, not only the total results of the Arbor day work, but the number of pupils in each county will be considered. Yours very truly,

W. B. MERRITT,
State School Commissioner.

Cook Goes to Washington.

Secretary of State Philip Cook will go to Washington, D. C., to represent Georgia at a convention of all the states to be held on January 16, 1905, on the subject of weights and measures.

A great deal of confusion exists through the United States at the present time because of the variation in weights and measures in the various states. The object of this convention is to devise some standards of weights and measures which will be acceptable throughout the country, and then have laws enacted adopting them. The convention will undoubtedly be an important and an interesting one.

Georgia Chemists to Meet.

The fall meeting of the Georgia section of the American Chemical Society will be held Saturday night next, at 8 o'clock in the office of State Chemist John M. McCandless at the state capitol. The annual election of officers and councilor will be held at this meeting. The present officers are Dr. H. C. White, of Athens, president; Dr. E. H. Emerson, Atlanta, vice president; Dr. H. B. Arbuckle, Decatur, secretary-treasurer; Dr. J. M. McCandless, representative on the council.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Closing Cemetery Crossing.

Editor Constitution: I see that the way from Decatur street to Oakland cemetery, known as Cemetery crossing, is in danger of being abandoned by the city to the railroads.

This is a serious matter.

This crossing has, to my knowledge, been a public thoroughfare for some thirty years, and for many years constituted the most used entrance for funerals, and this use continued until comparatively recently, when the railroad was allowed to grade so as to take away the road alongside the fence, but a gate was left, and the crossing has continued to be used by, and is a great convenience to, pedestrians, and is also used, to some extent, by conveyances.

The title of the public to this is as good as to any part of 200 miles of public thoroughfare.

I can readily realize, as in the Nelson street matter, the very great value to the railroads of closing this way; but if the crossing in question can be thus taken away, we may expect, at the convenience of the railroads, to lose any or all of our other crossings.

Oakland cemetery is a spot very dear to me, as to thousands of our citizens; the principle is important; and I sincerely trust that public interest may be aroused to prevent the perpetration of this inquity.

Georgia Baptists Orphans Home.

Editor Constitution: Now, as the representatives of the mighty hosts of Baptists of the state of Georgia are gathering in Columbus, it may be of interest to all the denominations to know more about the Georgia Baptist Orphan's home at Hapeville, which is fostered by the convention.

This is a work that should be first in the hearts of men and women of the churches, for the Father of the fatherless has said it is "true religion and undefiled before God."

The officers of the Georgia Baptist Orphans' Home Association are: Mrs. A. D. Adair, president; Mrs. Harvey Hatcher, first vice president; Mrs. John M. Green, second vice president; Mrs. A. J. Orme, third vice president; Mrs. A. J. Moore, treasurer; Mrs. E. L. Connally, secretary; Mrs. Joseph Hall, auditor; Mrs. Lawsone Brown, general manager.

Twenty-three trustees, who have entire management and control of the property at Hapeville, which is worth $50,000, are John E. White, Henry Durand, James R. Brown, John R. Hopkins, John M. Green, George M. Brown, J. L. White, Carl Minor, Joseph B. Whitehead, R. B. Heaiden, J. F. Eden, Mrs. A. D. Adair, Mrs. A. J. Orme, Mrs. Harvey Hatcher, Mrs A. J. Moore, Mrs. Joseph Hall, Mrs. John H. James, Mrs. E. L. Connally, Miss Alice Baxter, Mrs. L. M. Landrum, Mrs. C. V. Goodwyne, Mrs. Ed G. Willingham, Mrs. Joseph F. Singer, Mrs. Fred Wagner, Mrs. Marion Roberts.

The members of the advisory board are Virgil C. Norcriss, A. D. Adair, John M. Green, D. O. Dougherty, George Hillyer, Walker Dunson, B. F. Abbott, C. A. Davis, R. H. Monteith, W. W. Landrum.

The Helper.

For 25 cents a year, a monthly paper, The Helper is published by the management, which it is earnestly hoped will soon have a wide circulation among Baptists.

It is very much desired that our people know all about the home; that they should visit it when possible, and give systematically to it.

At some of our recent association collections for other orphanages were more than for our own, and it is told that one moderator stated that "The Orphan's home was founded by Jesse Mercer, Joe Brown and that man of God, Bob Toombs." For those not yet in close touch with this work, nothing better for information and history can be given than the publication of the following leaflet, entitled "Facts About the Orphan's Home," by Mrs. A. D. Adair, president Georgia Baptist Orphan's Home.

PLAN INDORSED BY EVANGELISTS

Drs. Chapman and Walton Approve Constitution's Editorials.

Offer to Give Liberally to the Proposed Charity Jubilee—Discussion Over the Recent Revivals Has Been Brought to a Close.

The Constitution is in receipt of telegrams from Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman and Rev. R. A. Walton both of whom are at Binghamton, N. Y., indorsing The Constitution's editorials in reference to the recent discussion of the revivals in which both Dr. Chapman and Dr. Walton took such a prominent part.

It will be remembered that Dr. Walton's 13-year-old daughter died in Atlanta, and he was forced to leave the city under extremely sad circumstances. In memory of his daughter and in appreciation of the kindness shown him in Atlanta he offers $20 for the proposed Thanksgiving fund.

Dr. Chapman in his telegram also offers $50 to the Thanksgiving fund. Dr. Chapman's telegram follows:

Binghamton, N. Y., November 21, 1904.—Editor Constitution: Will contribute $50 to Thanksgiving offering. Letter follows today. I heartily commend your position.

J. WILBUR CHAPMAN.

Dr. Walton's telegram follows:

Binhampton, N. Y., November 21, 1904.—Editor Constitution: Will subscribe $20 to Thanksgiving fund in memory of my daughter and appreciation of Atlanta's kindness to me in my sorrow.

R. A. WALTON.

The discussion of the recent revivals has ended. Dr. C. J. Harris yesterday announced that he would have nothing further to say. His critics, he said, have avoided the real point, and it is practical results and not words that are needed in the present instance.

Dr. Harris declares he will continue actively to relieve the wants of the poor, and that all sums sent tim him will be given the proper direction, and that he will give a detailed accounting to those who contribute funds for the work.

Card of Rev. John E. White.

Editor Constitution: The conclusion of the matter with Rev. Mr. Harris, of the Universalist church, and the charity of Atlanta, so far as I am concerned, is as follows:

First. His statement as printed in The Constitution of Monday morning that I had turned away a case of "desperate" need sent to me by him on Saturday was not a statement of truth. No one came to me for help on Saturday or any other day last week. If he sent a charity decoy he or she did not turn up to me and it was Mr. Harris who was taken in. Next Sunday he will, of course, tell his congregation, and then The Constitution, that in stating that Dr. White had turned down his case of "desperate" need, he had been deceived by the aforesaid "desperate," for which apology is due to Dr. White.

Second. I call upon the mayor of Atlanta and Mr. Evans, who is officially employed by the city to relieve cases of "desperate" need, to inform the public if there is suffering on account of poverty neglected and unalleviated in Atlanta and if Rev. Mr. Harris has reported any "desperate" cases to them.

That is all—sine die.

Pastor Second Baptist Church.

CAMPBELL DIED IN MOBILE.

Well Known Veteran Passed Away While Atttnding State Reunion In Alabama.

D. T. Campbell, of 340 Luckie street, died yesterday morning in Mobile, Ala., from the effects of an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Campbell was a well known confederate veteran, and was in Mobile attending the annual state reunion of the veterans of Alabama. He was a member of the Seventh Alabama cavalry and a gallant follower of General Bedford A. Forrest.

Mr. Campbell was stricken with an acute attack of appendicitis Friday and was removed to a private sanitarium. An operation was performed and he was given the best possible skilled medical attention, but owing, perhaps, to his age and his weakened condition, he was never able to rally from the operation and died yesterday morning.

An Alabaman by birth, he had lived in Atlanta many years and was a prominent member of Camp Walker of Atlanta.

He is survived by his wife and several children among whom are;

Mrs. I. T. Stevens, of Atlanta; Mrs. J. C. Wilson, of Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Nell Gilles, Clayton, Ala.; Mrs. C. McCord, Macon, Ga.; Mrs. T. H. Roberts, Carson, Ala., and Messrs. Ben and Joe Campbell, of Atlanta.

Mr. Campbell will be laid to rest in the cemetery at Carson Ala., his old home.

HE CANNOT RING HIS BELL.

Auctioneer Jacobs Fined in Police Court for Ringing Bell in Front of Store.

M. Jacobs, an auctioneer at 58 Decatur street, was fined $1.75 by Acting Recorder Terrell yesterday afternoon for allowing a negro to ring a bell in front of his place of business.

The case was made by Officer Dobbs under the new ordinance prohibiting merchants from employing spielers in front of their stores for the purpose of attracting customers.

Jacobs paid the fine under protest. He said he paid a license to run an auction house, and he could not do so unless he was allowed to ring a bell.

Attorney Macks Morris, who represents Jacobs, may carry the case up to test the validity of the anti-spieler ordinance.

LEUPP NAMED BY ROOSEVELT.

Newspaper Man Is Given Post of Indian Commissioner.

Washington, November 21.—President Roosevelt today announced the appointment of Francis E. Leupp, of this city, to be Indian commissioner, vice William M. Jones, resigned.

Commissioner Jones' resignation and Mr. Leupp's appointment will take effect on January 1. Mr. Leupp is the Washington correspondent of The New York Evening Post, and has been identified with Indian affairs for many years.

CENTRAL TO MAKE FIGHT ON TAXES

Contends It Is Not Liable on W. of A. Stock.

Not Satisfied with Decision in Georgia Railroad Case Alone—State Officials Cannot, Under Law, Show Leniency in Collecting Taxes.

The Central of Georgia Railway Company is not going to come forward and pay taxes on its $1,500,000 of Western of Alabama stock, just because the supreme court of the United States has decided that the Georgia railroad must pay up on a like amount that stands in its name.

"The Central is not going to pay taxes on that Western of Alabama stock until the courts compel it to do so," said Captain Henry C. Cunningham, of counsel for the Central of Georgia, who was in the city on business yesterday.

"There is a case now pending involving taxes on the Central's portion of this stock," he continued. "We contend that we are on a different basis from the Georgia railroad. Our stock is pledged in New York as security for an issue of bonds, and we hold that the title to it is in New York, where it is so held, and not as a matter of fact in the Central of Georgia Railway Company.

"Of course there is no way of telling what the outcome will be but the Central does not consider itself liable for taxes on this stock, and will not pay such taxes until it is compelled to do so."

Stock Not Worth Par.

Another question which comes into consideration in the matter of taxes on this stock is the market value of it. There is none of it on the market, half of it being held by the Georgia railroad and the other half by the Central, so that its value may be a difficult question to determine.

Captain Cunningham says the Western of Alabama stock has not paid but one or two dividends since the Central has owned it. He thinks if put on the market it would not bring more than 60. If this is the case, the state will be able to get taxes on only about $1,800,000 instead of $3,000,000, which the Western of Alabama's total stock issue owned in this state.

There is another element, however, that of controlling the road, but whether this would give the stock any taxable value is a matter of doubt.

How It Was Found.

Though the Georgia railroad and the Central have each owned half of this Western of Alabama stock since 1889, it was never returned to the comptroller general, because these companies did not consider it taxable.

It was not until 1900 that Comptroller General Wright became aware of its existence. It is well known, of course, that all returns of railroad corporations are made to him, and, as it is his duty to keep track of the railroad situation in the state, he sometimes, when the opportunity offers, makes a study of reports and railroad publications.

One day he was studying over the various Georgia railroads as present in Poor's Manual, and discovered among the assets of the Georgia railroad $1,500,000 of the capital stock of the Western of Alabama railroad. He referred to the company's returns and saw this stock was not mentioned. It was an easy matter to locate the rest of the stock in the possession of the Central of Georgia.

Then it was that the comptroller general made a demand for taxes from both these companies. They denied their liability, and litigation followed, with results that are already known.

Cannot be Lenient.

A suggestion has been made that the state officials be lenient in demanding the payment of back taxes on this stock. The source from which the suggestion comes was evidently unaware that the supereme court has decided that no state official has the right to compromise in any way a claim for taxes, nor is he permitted under the law to grant any additional time for the payment of taxes, except as is provided by law.

The state officials are bound under their oaths to proceed to the collection of all claims due the state as soon as possible. Only the legislature can grant an extension of time for payment, and even that body is forbidden by the constitution to compromise any such claim.

Only a small part of the taxes claimed by the state on this stock has been adjudicated. This is the taxes due by the Georgia railroad on its $1,500,000 of the Western of Alabama stock to the state, the county of Richmond and the city of Augusta, for a period of five years, which, it is said, will amount to something like $200,000.

Man and Wife Asphyxiated.

San Francisco, November 21—Courtland S. Benedict, president of the Hasting Clothing Company, and his wife have been asphyxiated by illuminating gas. Mr. Benedict used a gas reading room lamp in his room, turning off the key. The tubing leaked and the room filled with gas and when found they were unconscious. They will probably recover.

A FATAL ERROR

A man steps into your office, draws up his chair, and talks right into your face. His breath is offensive. Your only thought is how to get rid of him and his business. You cut him short with, "I am not interested."

SOZODONT

is essential to one whose breath is not pure and sweet. Penetrating the little crevices, it deodorizes, sweetens and purifies them, and makes you feel genteel and clean-cut.

3 FORMS. LIQUID. POWDER PASTE.

THOS. F. STOCKS ON WATER BOARD

Succeeds Dr. A. L. Curtis, Who Resigned Yesterday.

The election of a water commissioner and six election managers was accomplished during the session of council yesterday afternoon. All elections were unanimous and were without opposition.

The following new city officials were chosen:

To be water commissioner from the first ward after December 1, Thomas F. Stocks, vice Dr. A. L. Curtis, resigned.

To be election manager from the first ward, E. F. Childress, vice Dr. A. L. Curtis, resigned.

To be election manager from the fifth ward, John J. Baker, vice A. Q. Adams, resigned.

To be election manager from the sixth ward, George C. Drummond, vice W. F. Crusselle, resigned.

To be election managers from the eighth ward, Charles F. Rice, W. F. Crusselle and D. W. Yarbrough.

The offer of Andrew Carnegie, the millionaire philanthropist, to donate $10,000 for a library building for negroes, provided the city purchase a site and make an annual appropriation of $1,000 for its maintenance, was referred to the finance committee, of which Alderman Inman is chairman, for action.

The agreement between the city and the Georgia Railway and Electric Company by which the latter agrees to become liable for repaving of streets to the extent of $10,000 per annum, unexpended portions of which are to be accumulative up to $50,000, the limit of liability during any one year, came from the aldermanic board with a recommendation that it be rereferred to the original committee in order to have the limit put upon the contract. This was done.

Withdrew His Protest.

Later during the session the ordinance awarding the contract for the repaving of Mitchell street from Whitehall street to Madison street with asphalt to T. E. Artope, was adopted. In this connection the Georgia Railway and Electric Company presented a protest against the repaving of streets, taking the position that the company is not liable, a contention which is agreed to by city officials.

President Arkwright was speaking upon this protest.

"Mr. Arkwright," said Alderman Harwell, "did you tell me that you would waive the Mitchell street paving, provided the amount was deducted from your first payment of $10,000."

"If I stated that I must have been understood as basing it upon the belief that the paving agreement would be made," said Mr. Arkwright.

"It was a personal conversation between us," declared Alderman Harwell, "other councilmen were not present."

"I was not appealing to other councilmen," said Mr. Arkwright. "I now say, Alderman Harwell, that if you will say that I agreed to waive as to Mitchell street I will withdraw my present protest."

"I will say that I understood it that way," responded Alderman Harwell.

"That is sufficient," announced Mr. Arkwright. "I will withdraw my protest, with the understanding that my action will not affect our position as to other grades."

This action drew applause for Mr. Arkwright.

The committee on salaries did not make its expected report. It will be presented during the next session.

Railroad Matters Postponed.

No matters affecting railroads were acted upon. This was by agreement. No action will be taken until after the reply of the railroads regarding freight rates has been received on December 6.

The meeting began with prayer by Rev. A. C. Ward, pastor of the Temple Baptist church.

The proposition allowing the Georgia School of Technology to operate an athletic park adjoining the school caused considerable discussion. After being so amended as to prevent the playing of games in which Tech teams do not participate, the ordinance was adopted.

Council approved and adopted a favorable report by the committee on public buildings and grounds upon a contract between the city and the Lakewood Park Company, Thomas M. Poole, president, for the lease by the latter of 360 acres known as "Lakewood" for $350 per annum.

The ordinance of Councilman Peters providing that the street committee shall consist of eight members, one from each ward, was adopted.

Doesn't Respect Old Age.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Fever, Constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. 25c at all drug stores.

KIDWELL AND WIFE IN JAIL.

House Thief and Wife Bound Over by Recorded on Four Charges.

Frank Kidwell and his wife were tried in the recorder's court yesterday morning and held in $1,000 bond each on the charge of larceny from the house.

Kidwell, who looted four boarding houses in the city, is regarded by the police as the slickest house thief ever arrested in Atlanta. His trick was to secure a room at a boarding house and steal all he could carry off as soon as the opportunity presented itself. He always had two empty grips for the purpose. As soon as he made a haul he carried his booty to his wife, who pawned them at a pawn shop.

He and his wife were preparing to seek other pastures when they were spotted by the son of a boarding house keeper whom they had victimized.

There are four charges against Kidwell of larceny from the house, and one against his wife for receiving stolen goods.

GARBAGE PLANT TO TAKE SHAPE

Inventor of Decarie Incinerator Here to Erect It.

The work of erecting the new incinerator for the sanitary department of Atlanta will commence this morning. Two car loads of material for the destructor have arrived in the city and are now in the yards of the Southern road.

F. L. Decarie, the inventor of the incinerator, reached Atlanta yesterday morning, and will be in personal charge of the work of erecting it.

The incinerator is to be erected here by the Decarie Manufacturing Company, of Minneapolis, Minn., the plant of that concern having been approved by a committee of city officials after an inspection of the methods of destroying garbage in many sections of the country had been made.

The incinerator for Atlanta was to have been erected in Atlanta last summer, but because of the difficulty in obtaining steel plates from the mills the making of the parts at the Minneapolis factory was delayed.

The work will now be hastened, however, and during the course of the next sixty days the incinerator will be in operation. It is to be located on the former site of the plant of the Lester Furnace Company, that site having been purchased by the city.

It is intended to burn only garbage in the new incinerator. It is to be erected under a guarantee by the Decarie Manufacturing Company, which agrees to operate it for sixty days as a test before it is turned over to the city.

Society

Miss Gholstin's Debut.

THE reception and cotillion at which Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gholstin entertained at the Piedmont Driving Club last evening was an occasion of unusual beauty and brilliancy, introducing formally in society their only daughter, Miss Catherine Gholstin.

Two hundred guests, including the unmaried contingent in society, were entertained, the entire New York building and club house being thrown together, and affording ample space for dancing, tete a tete and an elegant supper.

The color scheme carried out in the decorations was entirely green, making a most effective background for the varicolored toilets of the many handsome women present.

On the lower floor of the New York building, where the guests were received, palms were banked in the corners of the room, and at the base of the mantels. The woodwork of the cabinets above and of the arches and windows were framed in American smilax, and sprays of the same festooned the columns separating the apartments, and hung from the chandeliers.

Oriental rugs covered the floor and there were couches and divans and "cosy corners" to give an air luxurious and homelike.

The stairway ascending to the ball room had its woodwork almost concealed by smilax, and there were banks of palms to complete the decorative effect in that apartment.

A covered way which connected the New York building with the club house was hung with Oriental lamps and there were palms and growing plants and smilax suggesting an atmosphere of the tropics. All the rooms of the club house were converted into dining rooms and filled with tables, at which the guests were grouped in parties of four and six, where the delicious hot supper was served.

Punch and coffee were served throughout the evening in the general reception room.

Before supper general dancing was enjoyed, and afterwards the cotillion was danced, the various figures led by Mr. James W. English, Jr., and Miss Gholstin and Mr. Joseph Brown Connally with Mrs. English.

Miss Gholstin, in her blonde loveliness, the grace of her figure and bearing and the gentle charm of her manner, was as the lily in a garden of flowers, suggested in the many beautiful young women who surrounded her on the occasion of her debut. She wore an exquisite toilet of white chiffon cloth, applied with lace and a great deal of dainty handwork. She selected a bouquet of violets from the many bouquets sent to her, and with these was a complete picture of the ideal debutante.

Mrs. Gholstin, the gracious hostess of the evening, wore an elegant toilet in black lace over white satin.

Mrs. George Cunningham, who with Mrs. James W. English, Jr., assisted in the entertainment of the guests, was beautiful in a Parisian gown of Irish lace, with ceinture of silver and corsage trimmings of silver. Mrs. English was handsome in pale pink chiffon applied in lace, the design of which was etched in opalescent sequins.

Of the visiting belles, Miss Anita Phinizy was distinctly attractive in a French gown of ciel blue lisse, trimmed in lace.

Miss Edrington, Miss Phelan's guest, wore white lace with trimmings in shaded green panne velvet.

Miss Helen Glenn, Miss Newman's guest, was a dainty and charming figure in white silk pointe d'esprit.

Mrs. James D. Robinson was a picture of queenly grace in a reception gown of white chiffon cloth and point lace. Mrs. Carrol Payne was handsome in pale green brocade silk.

Miss Jennie English wore cream tinted chantilly lace, the corsage embroidered in pearls and finished with a touch of green.

Mrs. Clarence Knowles wore black lisse applied in thread lace.

Miss Ruth Halman wore white chiffon cloth and lace. Miss Minnie Van Epps wore white lace over white chiffon. Mrs. William Inman wore white mull trimmed in Valenciennes lace. Miss Lamar Payne wore white pointe d'esprit; Miss Frances Newman, white chiffon cloth painted in roses; Miss Hortense Horne, white lace; Miss Louise Gay, white net over pompadour silk; Miss M. A. Phelan, pink pineapple lisse embroidered in silver; Miss Janie Speer, white lace; Miss Effie Beale Phelan, a French toilet in pale pink and blue.

Mrs. Park Reelected.

AT the annual meeting of the Atlanta City Federation held yesterday afternoon in the Woman's Club rooms in the Grand, Mrs. Robert Emery Park was unanimously reelected president.

On motion of Mrs. James Jackson, with a second from Mrs. Ottley, the other officers of the federation were unanimously reelected as follows: Vice president, Mrs. Joseph Moody; secretary, Mrs. Howard Smith; treasurer, Mrs. John J. Lynch.

The afternoon's programme was opened with the annual address of the president, Mrs. Park, who in giving a report of the year's work in its success met with enthusiastic applause from the several hundred women present, represented the federated work of all Atlanta's women in organized effort. Her report of the excellent results of the probation system and juvenile court as operated in Atlanta was emphasized in a report of the same by the probation officer, Mr. Gloer.

He cited many incidents which conclusively proved the efficacy of the probation system of Atlanta, and referred to the necessity of a probation office in Atlanta, as he did not think police headquarters the right place for women and children to be obliged to go when they wished to communicate with the probation office.

Announcement was made of the three organizations forming the federation this year, these being the Atlanta division of the woman's needlework guild of America, the West End Floral Club and the Tabernacle Infirmary Society.

The needlework guild brings to the federation an additional member ship of thirteen hundred women.

Mrs. Hubert Culberson told an interesting story of the success of the West End flower show, and the report made of the Tabernacle infirmary work was an excellent one.

Mrs. James Gilbert discussed the needs of the children's department of the Carnegie library, and Mrs. Zahner enlisted interest in the Thanksgiving dinner to be given Wednesday evening at the Boys' Night school.

The meeting was in every detail one inspirational and one demonstrating the splendid and philanthropic work of Atlanta women.

A happy incident of the meeting was the welcome accorded Mrs. Nellie Peters Black on her return from Europe.

In a brief address made by her, she urged upon the women of Atlanta their cooperation in every movement in the direction of civic improvement.

Tinsley-Binford.

CARDS were received in Atlanta yesterday announcing the marriage of Miss Maud Tinsley and Mr. R. J. Binford, which occurred Wednesday, November 17, at the home of the bride's parents in Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Binford is an unusually attractive young woman and belongs to one of the old families of Richmond. She is a cousin of Mrs. Dunbar Roy, of Atlanta.

Mr. Binford is well known here, particularly among the younger social set. He graduated from the Tech in the class of 1900 and shortly afterwards moved to Richmond. He is a son of the late R. J. Binford, of Columbus, Ga., and a grandson of the late Colonel Charles C. Munnerlyn, of Decatur county, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Binford will make their home in Schnectady, N. Y., where Mr. Binford is connected with the General Electric Company.

To Miss Kay.

ONE of the most delightful social events of the past week was the card party given by Mrs. W. C. Tennent at her home on East Cain street in honor of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Kay, of Lowndesville, S. C. The spacious parlors were artistically decorated for the occasion with white chrysanthemums, bamboo and ferns.

Miss Kay wore a lovely gown of white organdy over silk. Mrs. Paul Divver assisted the hostess, presiding at the punch bowl. Several games of progressive whist were played, Miss McCary, of Columbus, Ga., winning the first prize a pair of silver manicure scissors; Dr. Brooch winning the gentlemen's prize, an old-gold stick pin. The consolation prize, a silver puff box, was cut by Miss Sarah Tennent, of Marietta.

After the games a salad course was served, followed by ices.

Mrs. Tennent received her guests in a becoming gown of white silk and lace. Mrs. Divver was attractive in white chiffon over pink silk. Mrs. McEvoy, who assisted the hostess, was gowned in white. About thirty guests were entertained.

D. A. R. Bazaar.

A PROMINENT social event of today will be the bazaar at the residence of Mrs. W. D. Ellis on Peachtree street the Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, having the enterprise in charge.

There is a brilliant display of handsome fancy articles of the most approved modes, and Atlanta women will find among them varied material for Christmas purchases. The time is ripe, too, for the accumulation of the winter's supply of preserves, pickels, etc., and there will be a fine stock of these goods on sale at the bazaar.

The object of the enterprise is to raise funds for the moving of Craigie house to the chapter's new lot donated from the Collier property, and a wide interest will therefore center in the event.

Singer-Daniel.

A SOCIAL feature of the day will be the wedding of Miss Willie Boynton Singer and Mr. Thomas Daniel, which takes place this evening at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride, on Washington street.

OFFENSIVE CATARRH

I suffered for a long time with a bad case of Catarrh, and took a great deal of medicine without any benefit.

I had a continual headache, my cheeks had grown purple, my nose was always stopped up, my breath had a sickening and disgusting odor, and I coughed incessantly

I heard of your S. S. S. and wrote you. I commenced to use it, and after taking several bottles I was cured and have never since had the slightest symptom of the disease. MISS MARY L. STORM.
Cor. 7th & Felix Sts., St. Joseph, Mo.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 29, 1903.

I had Nasal Catarrh for years for which I used S. S. S. with very gratifying results. I tried local applications for some time, and getting no permanent relief I came to the conclusion that the seat of the trouble was in the blood. Knowing S. S. S. to be a good blood medicine I began its use, and after using it for some little while it did away entirely with the offensive mucus in the nostrils, and I did not have to hawk and spit, especially in the morning, to dislodge the catarrhal matter.

1627 South St. FRED H. PRESSY.

The filthy secretions and foul mucus that are continually dropping back into the throat, find their way into the stomach and are absorbed into the blood. Catarrh then becomes constitutional, and the only way to get rid of it is through the blood. Write us if you have Catarrh, and our physicians will advise you without charge.

Johnson escaped and was caught Saturday at Ozark, Ark. Two of three eyewitnesses are dead. The living witness, John Buffington, of Dalton, is wanted by the brothers of Broyles. He is summoned as a federal court witness to be in Rome tomorrow, and may be found there. R. A. Broyles, of Atlanta, is a brother of the dead man.

GEORGIA TECHS EXPECT CROWD

Record Attendance Is Looked for on Thanksgiving Day.

The Georgia Techs expect a record crowd Thanksgiving day, when Tech and Cumberland line up for the concluding battle of the Atlanta season.

The good showing of the Tech team up to date has made for the school many friends. Up to this time Tech had been looked upon as a sure loser before she went into a game. She will enter the Thanksgiving day contest on even terms with the Tennessee boys and will have a splendid chance to win the game.

On account of the fact that so little is known of the Cumberland eleven, it is hard to form any estimate of the score that will be made in the game. Some football enthusiasts believe that both sides will score, probably score two or three times each. On the other hand, there are many who believe that the score will be a matter of one touchdown, and the team which secures it can rest assured of a victory.

Last year Heisman's team, then Clemson, went up against practically the same team and the same coach now at Cumberland. Both teams scored, the final score being 11 to 11.

Whether history will repeat itself in this second game between a Heisman eleven and a Cumberland team next Thursday will tell.

Every preparation has been made for handling a big crowd Thanksgiving day. Only a limited number of people will be admitted to the side lines. The field has already been so roped off that it is impossible for wild horses or automobiles to take part in the scrimmages and the bleachers and grandstand will be looked after, to see that the enuthusiasm of the spectators does not cary them out on the field.

Big Crowd for Macon.

While Tech is getting ready for Cumberland in Atlanta, the Georgia and Auburn managements are making a bid for a crowd in Macon on the same day, and it is expected that crowds will go to see the game from nearly every part of the state.

A strong delegation will go to Macon from Athens, as has been the case for year after year. During the last two or three years this crowd was numbered as high as 1,000 enthusiastic rooters.

Then Auburn has always sent a large and enthusiastic bunch of men to the game, and this season, owing to the unusually fine showing made by Auburn this season, the attendance will be far better than usual. Auburn will bring hundreds of cadets, her big band, and many Alabama citizens, who expect to see an Auburn victory.

Still another big increase in the crowd is expected to come from the hundreds of alumni and friends of the university located in Atlanta. Special trains are being chartered to go to Macon to carry people to see the game. Other Atlanta parties will go down on the regular trains.

Altogether, an unusually large crowd is expected to attend the first Auburn-Georgia game in Macon.

SOUTHERN TEAM IN LONG RACE

Walthour and Munroe Enter in Six-Day Race.

New York, November 21.—(Special.)—The team that won the six-day bicycle race last year, Bobby Walthour and Bennie Munroe, have joined forces to try and capture the same honor in the big race which takes place at Madison Square garden this season December 4 to 10.

Walthour, who has just returned from abroad after winning all kinds of honors on the other side, would not team up with Munroe until he had satisfied himself that the latter was riding in winning form.

But now, according to a letter received by a New York sporting man, Walthour has become satisfied that Munroe is riding even better than last year, and Bobby says he can assure those who will attend the contest that they will see an exhibition that will be worth while.

Another item of interest to followers of cycling was the announcement today that Jimmy Michael, the little "Welsh Rarebit," has been matched to race Bobby Walthour for the world's middle distance paced championship at 15 miles at Madison Square garden on Saturday night, December 3, the night preceding the start of this year's six-day bicycle race.

Michael has been riding in fine form in France, Germany and Austria, and sports in bicycle circles abroad say that he is as fast now as he ever was in his life. He is now on his way to this city.

YOUNG WOMAN KILLS HAYNES.

Shot at Him Three Times With Revolver.

Abbeville, S. C., November 21.—(Special.)—Sunday afternoon there was a disturbance at the Long residence, 2 miles from Donalds. Several men visitors became boisterous and were ejected by the women. As they left, Ben Haynes pulled Rena Long, an old woman with him. She hit him with a stick of wood. He reached for a piece of scantling and hit her. She called for help, and Claude Addison, a young woman, shot at Haynes three times with an American bulldog pistol. One shot killed him instantly. Claude Addison, as principal, and Rena Long, as accessory, were committed to jail here today. All parties are white.

TWO ESTIMATES MADE PUBLIC

One at 11,684,000 the Other 11,300,000 Bales.

A Slight Break Followed the Publication of these Reports, Which was Later Recovered, the Market Closing 3 to 5 Points Higher.

New York, November 21.—The cotton market opened easy at a decline of 2@6 points in response to liquidation following a couple of local estimates of the crop. One of these put the probable yield at 11,684,000 bales. The other estimated it at 11,300,000 bales. Cables were fairly steady and early advices from the south indicated a good demand for spot cotton, with holders willing to sell at present prices, but unwilling to make any further concession. Local shorts showed a disposition to cover at the initial break, and prices were soon rallied to about closing figures of the previous night, after which they ruled about steady and were finally steady at a net advance of 3@5 ponts. Sales were estimated at 200,000 bales. It had been anticipated by some that the first installment of the ginners' report giving the amount of cotton ginned to November 14 would be issued today. There was no sign of it, however, and no official announcement as to when it may be expected.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, November 21.—Cotton, spot, quiet and weak. Sales 3,750 bales, including 1,300 to arrive. Quotations 1-16c lower.

Futures opened steady, with a decline of 1 to 3 points on a decidedly unfavorable weather map. Soon after the opening, on large buying orders from profit-taking shorts, prices were sent up well above Saturday's closing. The bear faction has lost much of their courage of the past week, and are apparently relinquishing their hold on the local market. The market received little encouragement from the bulls. The trading was moderately active throughout the session. December opened down 3 points at 9:30, declined a point and then sold up to 9.49, but finally lost 2 points to 9.47. The market closed steady with net gains of 4 to 9 points.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, November 21.—While the dry goods market is more or less spotty in character, many lines are increasingly firm owing to the scarcity of stocks and the inability of manufacturers to make deliveries. Slight additions to export business are reported and the home trade is inquiring for many lines, especially in cheaper goods.

Cothran & Co.

COTTON—The decline in cotton was resumed at the opening this morning, and January sold at 9.61, within 3 points of the low record of some weeks ago. At this point a change took place in the complexion of the market. The large traders who started the decline a week ago came in and bought large blocks of cotton so that the decline was not only halted, but an improvement of 10 points resulted. There was less cotton for sale on the break today and more wanted. It would be interesting to know where all the cotton sold last week went to. The enormous pressure of three days found prices within a few points of where the selling began. This is considered significant, for the cotton has undoubtedly gone into strong hands. Two crop estimates came out today, one for 11,300,000 and one for 11,650,000 bales. The former comes pretty close to the ideas of the conservative element of the trade. There will be more estimates out before long that will probably be even less than 11,500,000. The government will set the pace for the rest of the season, and traders now are merely scalping the market. The demand for cotton at 9 3-4c for January is good. At 9 1-2c for December large blocks seem to be wanted. The short interest is now very extensive. We would buy on breaks.

WHEAT—The Armour houses bought on quite a large scale, principally in the way of covering shorts, but there was selling by St. Louis as well as by the northwest. The Armour buying misled a number of local operators, who got long, but outside buying orders were scarce and the big increase in the visible started free selling, largely in the way of liquidation, the market being full of stop orders. There were rallies toward the close and the buying was hardly of a good character, and considering the weakness of the cash markets all around with slack demand, the position of wheat is certainly growing heavy, and we would favor sales on all strong spots, as we look for further liquidation.

CORN—There was rather free selling of December at the start, but the offerings were well taken with fairly good buying in May that stood up better than expected, considering the weakness in wheat. Iowa acceptances were liberal, but from Illinois were light. Local sentiment is bearish, the market looks oversold to us, and on dips would favor purchases.

OATS—Sample lots a shade lower, but the futures stood up well, although there was a little selling by Armour, but the decrease in the visible induced shorts to cover on a very narrow market.

PROVISIONS—Hogs were in large supply and lower inducing selling by packers through commission houses, although the western trade bought ribs and the English houses bought lard. There was covering of shorts by a local operator, still the market was very dull and may change but little during the next few days.

STOCKS—The stock market was inclined to hesitation for a time this morning, but the repeated efforts of the floor crowd to bring about a depression failed to accomplish much, owing to the presence of supporting orders, and under the leadership of Steel and Union Pacific the market was held steady with a good undertone. Several specialties were made active. Sentiment is generally encouraging. It is evident that the large interests do not intend to permit any setback of consequence just now, and some of the large houses with good affiliation are advising their clients this afternoon to await a reaction no longer, but buy now and average if they get the opportunity. The character of the market for taking stocks is commented on freely, and the technical position seems good. We believe in conservative bullishness, and would buy standard issues on all weak spots for turns.

COTTON—Among the local traders there is a general disposition to approach the publication of the government estimate on December 3 without any interest in the market. Under this condition the market has become a very quiet one, with any decline quickly recovered. In Liverpool fears were expressed that the large holdings of the Egyptian interests would be old if the decline continued much further. For some time past it has been known the decline of the Egyptian crops had led to large speculative purchases of American cotton at higher prices in that market. A better tone is to be noted for cotton goods, which should be maintained in view of the general improvement in business and the supposed exhausted stocks of retailers throughout the country. This tendency to avoid the short side was marked during the entire session and aided in closing the market very steady at about the best prices. It foreshadows a market without a short interest when the bureau report is published. Liverpool should be 5 points higher tomorrow.

Miller & Co.

COTTON—Liverpool this morning declined sufficiently to equal our loss of Saturday; in fact, this has been the policy of that market for weeks. Never once has it taken the lead by forcing lower prices, leaving that pleasant task to the owners of the stuff, which is being daily cheapened for European benefit. After the first sign of a rally here, however, Liverpool was prompt to recover, and after opening 4 points lower, closed only 1 point below Saturday. Spot sales there 8,000. Although our market started again on its downward course immediately after the opening there were fany signs to indicate an oversold condition. The bears had thought it so easy to put prices down that they kept on selling without regard to the fact that the level was being pushed below the point where the farmer would sell his spot cotton. Some, however, thought better to take in profits, especially as December came very near touching the 9 1-2c mark, and the moment buying started in, there was a quick recovery of 10 points. Although the market has since swayed back and forth, the closing is 9 to 10 points above the lowest and about 4 higher than Saturday. Two private estimates of the crop, one putting it as high as 11,684,000 and the other at 11,300,000, were issued today. It can hardly be said that either of them had any direct influence on the market, although the advance was attributed in some quarters to the lower estimate, which is from a large banking firm, noted for its strength and conservatism and also its correctness in cotton estimates. The week past the visible supply failed to come up to expectations of the bears, the gain for the week showing a decrease of 82,000 bales as compared with last year. As spinners are taking cotton very freely this week, it is probable that next Friday's exhibit will be equally disappointing to the bears, and the far-sighted ones are disposed to shorten sail somewhat, even though they may not change their ideas about the yield. Tomorrow we shall compare in port receipts with a total of 105,000 last year. Estimates so far indicate that we shall probably fall short of this figure by 25,000 bales or more. Exports keep up at a steady pace, the clearances on Saturday amounting to 56,322 bales, and up to 2 o'clock this evening over 43,000 bales had shown up. A good deal of buying this evening appeared to be for account of spot houses, which would indicate that spinners are buying freely at these prices, as when exporters sell ahead they naturally buy futures as a hedge against their spot engagements. Liverpool is due to come three higher in the morning.

L. J. Anderson & Co.

COTTON—The market opened easy this morning at a decline of 2 to 6 points, this arising apparently from private estimates of the crop placing it between 11,300,000 and 11,700,000 bales. After the call there was considerable demand on the exchange from local shorts, although cables were about as due at the close on Saturday. The weather over the south was fair with the exception of slight rains through the central belt, receipts being slightly under last year's figures. Prices ruled pretty steady at a point or two above the opening figures, trading being fairly active. The market at midday was quiet though firm, netting 1 to 2 points higher. Early after the opening January sold down to 9.61, which was within 3 points of the low record some weeks ago. At this point the reports of the crop estimates created a reaction, when it sold up as high as 9.70. The market at present is somewhat uncertain, but there appears to be a strong undertone and the option still prevails that a bull movement is on foot and will show itself within the next week or ten days.

DECEMBER WHEAT HEAVILY SOLD

Reports from Northwest State Elevators Packed with Wheat.

Eastern Capitalists Were Sellers, Resulting in a Sharp Decline—December Closed 1-8c Lower After Selling at 3c Decline. Corn Higher.

Chicago, November 21.—Under heavy profit taking December wheat today broke an even 3c from the high point from the day's quotations. A large part of the selling was said to have been done by eastern capitalists who were anxious to get out of the grain market. The market regained part of the loss on covering by shorts, but at the close the December delivery showed a net loss of 1 1-8 as compared with Saturday's final figures. May is down 5-8c. Corn is up 3-8c. Oats show a gain of a shade. Provisions are off 2 1-2 to 7 1-2c.

At the opening a firm undertone was manifested in the wheat pit. December was up 1-8@1-4c at $1.08 3-4@1.08 5-8, May opened unchanged to 1-4c higher at $1.08 1-8@1.09 3-8. The strength was probably largely due to the fact that many traders who sold short on Saturday took fright at a rumor circulated early today to the effect that there was frost in Argentine. Another factor that tended to give support to the market was news concerning world's shipments for the last week, the movement shown being less thain many traders expected. For a time offerings were inadequate to the demand and prices made a quick advance, December selling up to $1.09 5-8. May rose to $1.10 1-8. Continued dry weather in the southwest had some influence in the early bulge. Suddenly sentiment in the pit veered to the bear side. Reports from the northwest stated that the movement of wheat from the farms in that section would probably continue heavy for several months, and that elevators are literally packed with wheat. Following the lead of a large commission house, said to be acting for prominent Wall street interests, pit traders turned active sellers of the December option. The result was a sharp decline. The break was made more pronounced by the lessening of numerous stop-loss orders. Before the decline was checked December had sold off to $1.06⅝, a drop of an even 3c from the high point. May declined to $1.08, a loss of 2½c. Shorts covering on the break causing a partial recovery. The market closed weak with December at $1.07½. May closed at $1.08½. Clearances of wheat and flour was 98,000 bushels. The amount on passage increased 1,314,000 and the visible supply increased 2,097,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,535,000 bushels, compared with 1,603,300 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 1,286 cars, against 1,050 last week and 1,402 a year ago.

In the face of the sharp break in wheat prices a remarkable firm undertone prevailed in the corn pit. An improved cash demand was largely responsible for the strength. A revival of export buying was an additional bull influence. December opened ½c lower to ¼c higher at 47⅞@48⅛c, sold between 47⅜@48⅛c and closed at 48⅛c. May ranged between 45@45½c and 45¼c and closed at 45¼@45⅜c. Local receipts 748, one contract grade.

With only a small scalping trade the oats market held steady throughout the entire session. Country offerings were light. December opened unchanged at 25⅝c, sold between 28⅝@28⅜c and closed at 28⅝@28¾c. May sold between 31@31⅛c and 31⅛@31¼c and closed at 31⅛c. Local receipts 171 cars.

Provisions were weak as a result of liberal receipts of hogs at the yards. Trading, however, was light. January pork closed with a loss of 7½c at $12.40. Lard was down 5c at $6.95. Ribs were off 2½@5c at $6.42½@6.45.

Estimated receipts tomorrow: Wheat 139 cars; corn 614 cars; oats 117 cars; hogs 26,000 head.

The Howell Jones Co.

COTTON—The cotton market was more active than for some days. At the opening prices were slightly easier. The south sold quite freely, but on the dip a good demand from interior shorts gave some stimulus to the market. The volume of trade was heavy and the extensive buying indicated a substantial short interest. Commission houses had good buying orders during the day and prices ruled firm toward the latter part of the session. Moderate selling by professional shorts was apparent at times and sometimes became somewhat mixed, but on the close there was a decidedly strong undertone. Liverpool cables came 3 points lower but reported a firm tone to the spot market, and before the close there the market for futures had taken a stronger turn and prices were 2 points higher. Receipts at the ports today were 60,670 bales, against 59,618.

WHEAT—The foreign market for grain was decidedly weak and had a dampening effect in the local markets. After a steady opening there developed heavy selling pressure in wheat. The Armour brokers threw heavy lines of stuff on the market and prices broke sharply. Climatic conditions were generally favorable, and while there was some talk of a possible sh

STOCK MARKET QUIET AND STRONG

Activity Showed Some Decline. Prices Were Well Maintained.

Causes of the Falling Off in Business Not Very Clear—Broken Week on Account of Thanksgiving. May Have Been a Motive.

New York, November 21.—Aggregate sales of stocks at the stock exchange fell off today, but notwithstanding the decline in activity, marking a shrinkage in the active demand for stocks, prices were well maintained. The market is best defined as quiet and strong. The causes of the falling off in business was not very clear. The fact of a broken week ahead on account of the Thanksgiving holiday may have been a motive. There were some intimations that the expectations of an immediate decision of the Northern Securities suit might be disappointed. Wall street clings to a conviction that the decision of that suit is to be the signal for some important announcement affecting the transcontinental railroad situation and the prospect of its delay discouraged some operations. Union Pacific was noticeably strong, however, as were St. Paul and the bonds in any way related to the Northern Securities adjustment. A consideration of the diminishing supplies in the money market may have admonished some of the speculative element against excess of commitments, but such action does not explain the strength of the duller trading. The engagement of gold are for export to Paris this week was added to by an amount of several hundred thousand dollars, and inquiry for all available gold bars was urgent at the assay office. Foreign exchange made a further advance, thus bringing the interval which permits the shipment of coin, and $500,000 in coin was engaged for Germany. Call money loaned at 3 per cent, but did not hold at that until the closing. Chicago exchange rose to 20c premium against 10c last week, marking the continuance of the flow of currency to New York, while the movement of the new corn crop was scarcely commenced, explaining the light interior needs for currency. Railroad officials in different sections differ somewhat in their views of the extent of the increase in the freight movement, those of eastern lines showing especial enthusiasm on the present volume of business. Lines in the west look more to the future when the corn crop shall begin to move in force.

The industrial department of the market continued relatively conspicuous, and there was an occasional movement in that department on the part of stocks a long time dormant, previous quotations running back over a year in some of these. The more active industrials were strong. The United States Steel stocks and the railroad equipment stocks reflected the good reports from trade circles. Amalgamated Copper was strong in common with all copper stocks, and metal stocks generally were benefited in sympathy. The large demand for copper is assumed to go largely into electrical improvements, and the electric stocks made notable gains. A sale of $15,000,000 of Pennsylvania company certificates and of $6,000 of Pere Marquette bonds illustrated the attraction of the improved market for securities to float new securities. The day's small changes in leading stocks compares with the narrowing dimensions of the market, and the closing was irregular and below the best.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $10,308,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

A Two Minutes' Talk
ABOUT ANNUITIES

The annuity was perhaps the earliest form of contract based on the length of human life. In Holland, France, England, and other countries where investors placed safety above all things else, annuities have for centuries been a popular method of providing for old age or dependent ones.

An Objectionable Feature

It was the custom to deposit a lump sum of money, for which the company would agree to pay a certain annual income throughout the life of the annuitant, with the stipulation, however, that when he died the whole amount was to be retained by the company. Under this system those who lived long were greatly pleased, but when the annuitant died early there was frequently a hue and cry from his heirs. That is one reason why the old fashion annuities have never been popular in this country, where we like to eat our cake, and have it too

Twentieth Century Ingenuity

The Equitable has devised an annuity contract which, while retaining the security and attractions of the old form, has completely eliminated the possibility of loss. Furthermore, instead of requiring a large lump payment, this annuity may be purchased in easy instalments. At the death of the husband the Equitable immediately begins to pay an annual income to the wife, which continues throughout her life, but if she should not live out her alloted time, the payments are continued to her children.

Beyond a Peradventure

Annuities, unless backed by great financial strength, are hollow mockeries. You must not only be sure that the company is strong now, but that it will still be strong fifty years hence in order to faithfully execute your trust even to the second and third generations. That is why the Equitable is the great annuity company. It is the strongest company in the world, and in this way the substance of the fathers is secured to his family beyond the risk of bad investment, panics, or loss from any cause. Payments come with the regularity of the seasons (semi-annually or quarterly if desired), but they cannot be anticipated or squandered in advance.

As there is no income tax in this country, these payments are not subject to taxation, and with all these attractive features the Equitable's annuity costs no more than the usual policy of life insurance. To secure the details of this proposition, it will be necessary to furnish the ages of benefactor and the beneficiary to any agency of the Equitable, or to,

RAIN PROMISED FOR TODAY.

Yesterday Proved to be Ten Degrees Warmer Than the Normal Temperature.

The weather forecast for today is for unsettled weather and probably rain with cooler temperature.

Yesterday was nearer September weather than November and there was little to suggest the near approach of Thanksgiving day. The minimum temperature was 50 degrees and the maximum 66 degrees, making an average of only 58 degrees for the day, which was 10 degrees warmer than normal.

During the afternoon the sky clouded up and there were many indications of the rain that is promised. While this rain will break in on the ideal Indian summer weather that has been Atlanta's share for the past few weeks, the rain is greatly needed by the farmers who complain from all parts of the state that they are greatly behind in their fall planting and plowing on account of the long continued dry weather.

According to yesterday's weather map the weather has been unsettled throughout the states east of the Mississippi and over the northwest. The pressure is very unevenly distributed, there being several areas of high and low pressure. Cloudiness covers most of the map and rain has fallen in eastern Texas and the lower Mississippi valley.

So warm was yesterday in Atlanta that among those who paraded on Peachtree street and entered the down town shopping districts shirt waists were the rule rather than the exception. As for the men, they hurried around attending to their regular duties and were most uncomfortable in their heavy things.
